Lowell Young Men Graduate From Boston College

GEORGE H. KEEFE

WALTER J. MARKHAM

WILLIAM E. ROWLANDSON

PAUL R. FOISY

Four Lowell young men were graduated from Boston College and received their degrees at commencement exercises today. They are Paul R. Foisy, Walter J. Markham, George H. Keefe and William E. Rowlandson. The first three received the degree of Bachelor of Arts and the other the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Paul R. Foisy was graduated from the Greenbush school in 1914 and Lowell high school in 1916. During his college career he was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society and the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Markham of 110 Floyd street.

George H. Keefe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Keefe of 95 Myrtle street, and was graduated from the Varnum school, class of 1914, and Lowell high school, class of 1916. Mr. Keefe was a member of the college golf club for four years and in his senior year was manager of the musical club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Markham of 110 Floyd street.

William E. Rowlandson received the degree of Bachelor of Science as he has specialized in chemistry. He came from the Moody school in 1914 and Lowell high school in 1916. He was a member of the varsity track team for four years and scored many points in the various meets. Mr. Rowlandson was a member of the local high school track team and continued his work in college for four years. His plans for the future are undecided as yet but he tends toward the chemical industry. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rowlandson of 186 Parkview avenue.

INVENTS RADIO SEARCHLIGHT

Marconi's Device Makes Possible Lighthouse Beams Flashing 100 Miles

Declares Short Wave Reflector Will Detect Ships in Fog—Wide Possibilities

NEW YORK, June 21.—Senator Guglielmo Marconi, wonder man of wireless, last night announced the invention of what might be termed a radio searchlight by means of which radio waves, which can be reflected like light waves, may be sent in a given direction in a beam instead of being scattered to all points of the compass.

The famous Italian said he believed this invention could be utilized in such a manner as to rid the sea of some of its terrors, for a revolving reflector, the transmitter would substitute a radio lighthouse, capable of flashing guiding beams nearly a hundred miles.

50,000 Clothing Workers Quit Work

NEW YORK, June 21. (By the Associated Press.)—Fifty thousand workers in the men's clothing industry left their jobs throughout the Metropolitan area today, to force manufacturers to let their work out to registered union contractors. It was announced by Hyman Blumberg, chairman of the New York joint board of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

Treaty Forces Have Big Lead

DUBLIN, June 21. (By the Associated Press.)—The approximate representation of the various parties in the parliament chosen at last Friday's election, as shown by returns up to this afternoon, is as follows: Coalition treaty 54; coalition republicans 33; labor 14; farmers 5; independents 10.

Terrible Pogroms in Ukraine

COPENHAGEN, June 21. (By the Associated Press.)—A Helsinki message to the Berlingske Tidende says that terrible pogroms have been committed in the Ukraine. The entire Jewish population of four towns is reported to have been massacred. This report has not been confirmed from other sources.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

TO SEIZE VESSELS WITH BARS OPEN

NEW YORK, June 21.—Whether action is to be taken by local prohibition officials against steamers entering this port which had their bars open just before reaching the three-mile limit, probably will be determined when Roy A. Haynes visits New York.

It is generally understood that the attitude of local prohibition officers is that under the law such vessels may be seized and their liquor stocks confiscated.

Local dry officials apparently believe that their instructions cannot be better than to take action against the steamers in accordance with the law as interpreted by them.

On the eve of his departure for Liverpool on the British steamship Scythia, William E. (Bossyfoot) Johnson gave out a statement in which he attacked the policy of the United States shipping board in permitting liquor to be sold aboard its boats and said people should refuse to ride on them.

NEW BADGES FOR BOSTON POLICE

BOSTON, June 21.—A new badge for the Boston police department has been selected by Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson. The badge, strikingly different from the old, is peafowl in shape and in the form of a shield. Extending across the top of it is a band and sword, taken from the seal of the state of Massachusetts. In the center is the seal of the city of Boston.

The change is being made because of the large number of old badges in the possession of persons other than the police, as a result of the police strike.

PRESIDENCY FOR HOLLAND

THE HAGUE, June 21. (By the Associated Press).—Holland was assigned the presidency of the central commission of the conference on Russian affairs here when the selection of the heads of this commission and the three sub-commissions of the conference was made today. Belgium was given the vice-presidency of the central body, while representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy respectively, head the three sub-commissions.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER MEETING

The Molly Varnum chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held its closing meeting of the season yesterday afternoon in the Spaulding House. The anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, which occurred on June 17 was observed with fitting exercises. Among those present were descendants of those men who fought at Bunker Hill and who were with Washington at Valley Forge.

Mrs. B. J. Maloney read an address given by Mrs. George Maynard Miner, president general of the D. A. R., given at the opening of the 31st Continental congress of the organization in Washington on April 17 of this year. The following ladies were on the committee: Mrs. Charles E. Howe, Miss Elizabeth C. Coburn, Mrs. R. J. Maloney, Miss Young, Mrs. John K. Whitte, Mrs. Lewis A. Putnam, Miss Nellie P. Horner and Miss Brenda Pettigell.

To Eliminate Military Training

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 21.—A proposal to eliminate military training from Minneapolis high schools was carried by a vote of 29,672 to 23,124 at the primaries according to complete unofficial figures. Final decision rests with the board of education and the vote was taken to get an expression of public opinion.

Ice House at Brockton in Ruins

BROCKTON, June 21.—An ice house of the Boston Ice Co., containing 3000 tons of ice was in ruins today, two other ice houses were damaged, the bridge on the East Bridgewater road was under water and several acres of meadowland were inundated as the result of the breaking of the dam at Cleveland's Pond. The ice house collapsed when ice on the ground floor was melted by the rising water. The loss to the ice company was estimated at $10,000.

Milk Producers to Boost Price

BOSTON, June 21.—The New England Milk Producers' association announced today an increase in the price of milk to dealers effective July 1. At present the wholesale price of milk in Boston is six cents a quart. The new price has not been announced. The present retail price ranges from 12 to 13 cents a quart. Milk dealers said the retail price would be raised when the farmers make their increase.

Reduction in Operating Deficit

TORONTO, June 21.—A marked reduction in the operating deficit of the Canadian National Railways during 1921 was shown in the annual report, the first covering the system as a whole. The total deficit was $16,092,901 compared with $36,842,070 the year before and with slightly over 20,000,000 in 1919. The directors report that the condition of the system has been steadily improved.

SAYS LUSITANIA CARRIED
TWO SUBMARINES

BERLIN, June 21.—(By the Associated Press).—That the Lusitania carried two submarines, in addition to munitions and torpedoes, which it was intended to remove unseen on the vessel's arrival, is a statement made in an interpolation submitted to the Reichstag yesterday by the national people's party, which asks whether the government is ready to take steps to have German representatives present at the raising of the vessel. The interpolation says that the party bases the statement on reliable information.

The Lusitania sinking, the party declares, contributed toward arousing sentiment against Germany and was used particularly for the purpose of drawing the United States into the conflict. Therefore, it adds, there is special interest in proving the sinking was justified by international law "because the German government had positive information the ship had contraband aboard."

The party demands that Germany be represented by competent observers throughout the raising of the ship and the salvaging of the cargo.

An American historian asserts that Capt. Kidd was a pirate and that he amassed no fabulous treasure.

WISE WOMEN

A famous medical man of ancient times states regarding his writings that they were but a collection of knowledge obtained from the "Wise Women."

Do you realize that in those times the women, and not the men, knew about the healing power of medicinal plants, roots and herbs? From the earliest times, women had a knowledge of the treatment of disease and of the healing merit of roots and herbs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was originated by a woman, Lydia E. Pinkham, and is now known and praised by women of all ages. It is prepared from roots and herbs having medicinal value of great value in the treatment of troubles women so often have.—Adv.

Cuticura Healed

"Eczema broke out on my scalp in a rash and itched and burned so that I could not help scratching, which made it worse. My hair was so dry and lifeless that I could not do anything with it. I tried all kinds of remedies without any relief. I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which helped me so I bought more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed."

LILLIAN RUSSELL'S WILL

No Publicity to Benevolences and Other Activities to Which She Contributed

PITTSBURGH, June 21.—No publicity is to be given to the benevolences and other activities to which Mrs. Lillian Russell Moore contributed, her wishes in these matters, having been confided to her husband, Alexander P. Moore. Much of the estate consists of Chinese porcelain, lacquer, jewels and objects of art.

The will, a brief document, was dated July 28, 1916. Its first provision directs that a sufficient sum be set aside for her daughter, Dorothy, which shall not be subject to her debts, the debts of her husband or any other person, and shall not be subject to any lien or encumbrance that may be placed thereon, nor can it be assigned by the daughter.

After this provision is fulfilled, Mrs. Moore desires that her estate be converted into cash. The document continues:

"All the rest and residue of my estate, real, personal and mixed, I give, devise and bequeath to my husband, Alexander P. Moore, absolutely, knowing that he will carry out my wishes with regard to certain charities and provisions for my relatives."

Mr. Moore, who is one of the executors, said the provisions of the will would be carried out religiously.

INVESTIGATION FOR STATE AID DEPT.

The chamber of commerce is in receipt of a circular from the civil service commissioners, relative to the position of investigator for the state aid department to be held in Lowell on July 8. The position, with a salary of $15 a week, is open to both men and women. The duties of an investigator are to look up those already receiving state aid, also new applications, and see what they should receive such aid. Also to keep in touch with those receiving aid, so that any change in their circumstances may be known at once.

Applicants are required to obtain at least 65 per cent. in training and experience, and at least 50 per cent. in special questions.

The subjects with their respective weights are as follows: training and experience (40); report (10); special questions (30); personality and fitness, as determined by an oral interview (20).

Application blanks may be obtained by applying in person or by letter to the office of the department of civil service and registration, division of civil service, rooms 148-152, State House, Boston, or from the local representative, James H. Carmichael.

Cannot Offer "Straw Ball"

bonademen must be registered. Any person who accepts money without being registered is subject to a fine of not more than $1000 or one year in jail. The above law is in accordance with chapter 465 of the acts of 1922.

According to the general interpretation of the law there are only two crimes for which a person cannot be bailed. These are murder and treason. It is possible, in some instances, to secure bail for a murderer if the court approves the bail and circumstances surrounding it.

This law will become effective on Sept. 1 of this year. In the past a person has been able to put up real estate, which he never possessed, as bail. This was known as straw ball. Under the new law this will be impossible. In the past a bondsmen was able to dispose of, or mortgage, property tied up for bail. Now it will be impossible without first consulting the court. If a person puts up real estate for bail and then decides to dispose of or mortgage it, it will be necessary for him to surrender the person to the court and make new arrangements.

The section that hits against professional bondsmen is considered a good step by local officials. In the past it has been known that certain people in the city have acted as professional bondsmen. They are said to have charged outrageous prices for their services. A person committed to jail for one night's detention has been charged as high as $25 and $30 for the use of bail money. It is said.

The new law says that all professional bondsmen must be registered before they can act in the capacity of bondsmen. It would seem that this would leave a loophole through which the professional bondsmen might squirm, but the added clause that he must be first approved by the court acts as a check upon these parasites. It is understood that the court will be extremely careful about putting its stamp of approval upon any bondsmen in the future.

Film With Smooth Continuity Is Not Always Entertaining

PAT O'MALLEY AND PAULINE STARKER IN "MY WILD IRISH ROSE."

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, June 21.—Many translations of the written story into the celluloid medium suffer in the process. When the story is derived from more than one source a film batch usually ensues.

"My Wild Irish Rose" for that reason seems to be an exceptional photograph. It takes its theme from Chauncey Olcott's song of that name and from "The Shaughraun." Don Boucault's play and contains a character interpretation of the director's own device.

The fact that no character of the play assumes a predominating place in the play marks the picture as a model of continuity writing.

The story deals with one little phase of the disturbances in County Sligo that marked the struggle for Irish independence years ago and which find their counterpart in more recent days.

Three romances are interwoven in the story. The principals are Pat O'Malley, Helen Howard, Maude Ma-mastered the art of mimicry. He probably will be still a great asset when Mickey will be using "batteries" on his face as his best girl won't giggle at the frolics.

Larry Semon's current comedy, "Pair of Kings," is just like any other Semon comedy except that some of his support wear different clothes. Semon will take rank with Chaplin, Lloyd, Keaton and Hamilton when he realizes that an idea does more than hard work to make a comedy.

Revivals of old photoplays continue to flood the market.

"The Delicious Little Devil," starring Mae Murray, is one of the latest. The best reason for its revival at this time is that Rudolph Valentino appears in the support and Rudolph Valentino makes 'em stand in line at the box office.

The best of the revivals is one made 12 years ago. It is called "Going Straight" and stars King Baggot, "suppered" by Mary Pickford. Presented seriously, it makes an effective comedy and affords a fine study in the great advance made in a new art.

The first movie made in Russia to be sent to the United States for exhibition is "Thousand and One Nights." It was directed and acted entirely by Russians. Nathan Kovanka is the Russian star. J. B. Robbins is editing and titling the film for exhibition. The Soviet government is encouraging the production of photoplays in Moscow, especially of propaganda films to be sent to Germany and Austria.

Van Strobheim's next picture will be called "Merry Go-Round."

Harold Lloyd's next comedy will be completed about July 1.

Ray Stewart will play the lead in "The Radio King."

A report from Hollywood states Cecil DeMille is spending $15,000 a day for "vision scenes" for "Manslaughter." They depict the splendor of Rome.

Gloria Joyl How's that for a movie queen's name? That's what they call the star of a new series of comedies. She used to do child parts in the movies and more recently appeared four years in vaudeville.

"Enter Madame" is Clara Kimball Young's next. She recently completed "The Hands of Naro."

George Fawcett plays the judge in "Manslaughter."

A woman on the Pacific coast makes a specialty of raising chickens covered with down instead of feathers.

Invents Radio Searchlight

Continued

Inventor said of the proposed radio lighthouse:

"By means of the revolving beam of electrical radiation, it is possible for ships, when within a certain distance, to ascertain in thick weather, the bearing and position of the lighthouse."

"It seems to me that it should be possible to design apparatus by means of which a ship could radiate or project a divergent beam of the short wave rays in any desired direction, which rays, if coming across a metallic object, such as another steamer, would be reflected back to a receiver on the sending ship and thereby immediately reveal the presence and bearing of the other ship 'in fog or thick weather. One further greater advantage of such an arrangement would be that it would be able to give warning of the presence and bearing of ships, even should these ships be unprovided with any kind of radio."

Marconi's radio searchlight bears little resemblance to the battleship searchlight. It is rather a special arrangement of wires or towers of masts. During his lecture Marconi exhibited pictures of reflectors resembling the weird apparatus pictured in imaginary tales of the conquest of the world by Martians. Through the use of these reflectors at both ends, clear speech was exchanged during experiments over a distance of 80 miles, between London and Birmingham, he announced, establishing a record in long distance radio transmission and reception with short waves.

Marconi stated that the reflectors made it possible for the receiver to reproduce a radio telephone song or speech about 20 times louder than is ordinarily possible. What is more, speech is transmitted practically without distortion and the transmitting aerial can be used both for sending and receiving at the same time.

"In these days of broadcasting it may still prove to be very useful to have a practically new system which will be to a very large degree accurate compared to the usual kind of radio," he added.

"DEATH BRIDGE" CLOSED

New Bridge to Cost $50,000
to Be Built By B. & M.
at Reading

READING, June 21.—"Death Bridge," over the tracks of the Portland division of the B. & M. R. R. tracks, at Lowell street, has been closed.

At this point, where many automobiles have dashed through the guard rail fence to the railroad tracks below, a new bridge is being built by the railroad at a cost of about $50,000, and the street is being straightened. A temporary structure for the accommodation of the electric cars is being erected.

Automobile traffic going south is being diverted by a detour from Lowell street through West street and Summer avenue to South Main street. Going north automobile traffic is diverted at the junction of South Main street and Summer avenue through Summer avenue to West street and into Lowell street again.

Critical Stage in Lower Rio Grande Valley Flood Expected at Midnight

Red Cross Relief Underway With 16,000 Acres Inundated

Aviators Despatched to Drop Bags of Food to Marooned Persons

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 21. (By the Associated Press).—The critical stage in the lower Rio Grande valley flood, which has inundated nearly 16,000 acres in Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron counties, marooned nearly 1000 Mexicans in small border towns, and covered the roads leading west of Mercedes, is expected some time after midnight tonight.

From a stream normally 200 to 300 yards wide and 18 inches to six feet deep, the Rio Grande has become 50 feet deep at the flood crest and from three-quarters to a mile wide. The flood is the result of a cloudburst last Saturday.

Those familiar with the lower Rio Grande valley, much of which is barely above sea level, fear that the upper flood will spread far beyond all previous overflow marks. Greatest damage is feared to growing crops.

Red Cross relief for the flood district already is under way. Hundreds of Mexicans living in Eagle Pass lowlands have lost all belongings, while at Piedras Negras, across the river the food situation is admittedly serious.

Three aviators were despatched from Kelsey Field, San Antonio, yesterday, to the lower Rio Grande valley for food relief work. Their instructions are to work from Camp McAllen and drop bags of food to marooned farmers.

No figures are available on loss of life in the flood. It is believed many Mexicans living in the low lands, were caught and swept away. One Mexican, after riding down stream nearly 100 miles on a raft, swam ashore at Laredo yesterday.

Many Death Reports
MEXICO CITY, June 21.—San Salvador, capital of the Republic of Salvador, was visited by another heavy storm and flood on Monday, a considerable portion of the city being inundated, with many deaths and much property loss, according to wireless advices received via Salina Cruz.

10,000 Homeless
SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 1.—Ten thousand persons have been made homeless by devastating floods which inundated the suburban districts of Sofia following rains Monday and Tuesday. No loss of life has been reported. There was much damage to livestock.

OAKLAND GETS GRAND SWEEPSTAKES CUP

The Grand Sweepstakes cup in Low Angeles—Yosemite Economy contest, the most prized trophy in this nationally known yearly event, has been awarded to the Oakland 6-44, which scored the highest average in the grand total of points. Oakland not only won the Grand Sweepstakes cup for all five classes, but also the cup for the class in which it was entered.

Oakland's ton mileage for the 360 miles from Los Angeles to Camp Curry was 49.37.

Ton mileage is obtained by dividing the gross weight of the car in tons by 350, the distance traveled and dividing by the number of gallons of gasoline consumed. The gross weight includes the full weight of passengers, their baggage, the full gasoline tank and spare tires as well as the weight of the car.

Sixteen cars made this run and thundered into such slime and mud in a heavy rainstorm which fell over Yosemite valley that the officials decided to call the event off, but the drivers insisted on the run being finished. Mud and mountains combined to hinder the contest, which was primarily to show economical mileage and endurance under average touring speed and with a full complement of passengers.

In winning the cup in its own class, Oakland competed with six-cylinder cars ranging in price from $1000 to $3000. There were six cars in this class.

In addition to its other records, the Oakland car made an average of 29.38 miles to a gallon of gasoline, which was the highest mileage of any six-cylinder car and was only exceeded by two other cars in the contest, both four cylinders, which averaged a fraction of a mile per gallon more than the Oakland.

Not a mechanical adjustment was made to the Oakland on this trip and examination showed no oil used during the run to Camp Curry and back, a distance of 720 miles. Only two pints of water were needed.

The awards were made at Camp Curry by Mrs. D. A. Curry, in the presence of a throng of more than 1000, including the officials of the A. A. A.

The Oakland making this run was a stock touring car which carries the special Oakland 15,000-mile written guarantee.

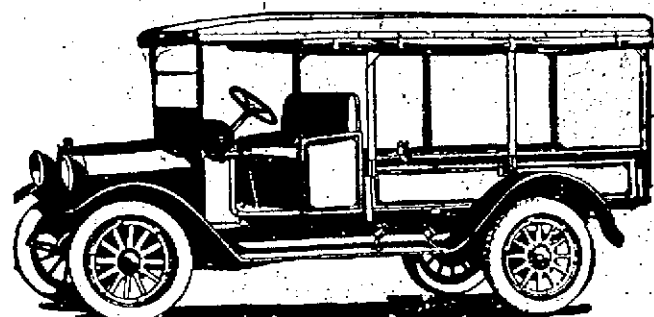

BOGUS "FEDERAL OFFICERS" TO RESCUE

MEREDITH, N. H., June 21.—A new sidelight of the rum running trade developed here. The police of this city stopped a car bound from the north, because the tail lights were not burning. The car carried a load of contraband. Before the Meredith officers could consummate the arrest, another car drove up behind the first machine. The occupants got out showed a badge, and held up the riders in the first automobile, saying they were under arrest and would take charge. Incidentally the bogus federal officers complimented the local police on the catch. The two cars then drove off south. Not hearing anything from the "officers," an inquiry was made which developed that no inspectors were working at that time in the Meredith territory.

According to statistics of suicides in the United States, the day on which most acts of self-destruction are committed is Monday.

$100,000 Fire Loss at U. of California

BERKELEY, Cal., June 21.—Hearst Hall and Hearst Hall Annex have been destroyed and the Pathology building of the University of California damaged in a campus fire, with estimated loss of $100,000. The University infirmary was threatened by the flames and its patients were removed, but the building was unharmed. Hearst Hall, a large frame structure, was the gift to the university women of Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, mother of William Randolph Hearst.

Oakland Wins!

OAKLAND wins the Sweepstakes Cup—grand prize for cars of all classes regardless of cost, size or weight—in the Sixth Annual Los Angeles-Camp Curry, Yosemite Valley Economy and Endurance Run. Oakland also wins the first prize for cars of its own class.

Fifteen other makes of cars yielded to Oakland's phenomenal record of 49.2 Ton Miles per gallon, according to official A. A. A. records! The actual mileage per gallon for the Oakland car was 29.37. No oil was used and only two pints of water—and the length of the run was 360 miles!

Think of it! Nearly thirty miles to the gallon—through city traffic and over rain-soaked country roads; up steep mountain trails and through sand, hub-deep!

And remember—the New Oakland Car that accomplished this remarkable feat was a stock, five-passenger touring car. You can buy an exact duplicate—you can buy this same economy and dependability in any New Oakland model!

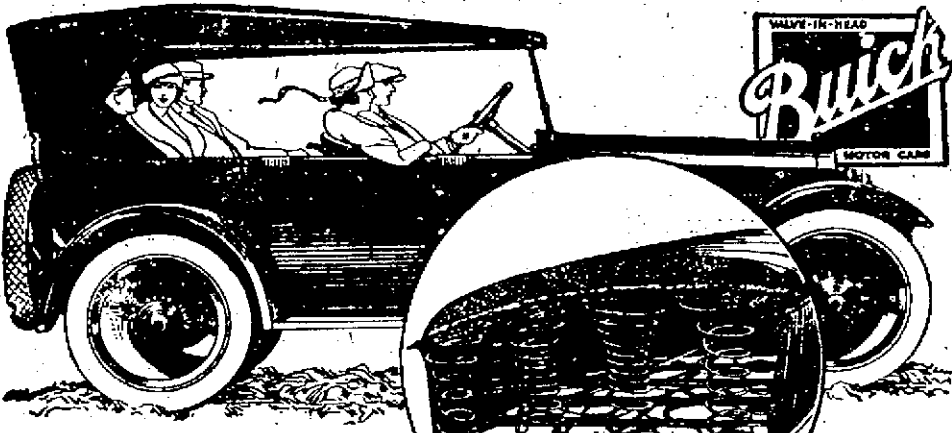

Truly, Oakland is the economy car. It is the only car, backed by 15,000 mile performance guarantee. It is the light-six sponsored by the resources and the prestige of the General Motors Corporation. The Standard of Comparison

Why Buick Cushions "Ride Easy"

Buick cushions are comfortable on all roads because of their "double-deck" springs and resilient hair pads. The upper springs, which are light and easy-acting, yield to the slightest road irregularity. The lower springs are larger and stiffer. They come into play on rough country roads, carrying the passenger in comfort over bumps which cause the ordinary seat to "strike bottom."

Between the springs and the French-plaited leather upholstery are two thick, yielding pads of interlaced hair which positively prevent "lumping."

In Buick seat cushions, as in every other part of the car, is built the quality which has made Buick cars the standard of comparison.

Use This Re-Discovered Secret of Ancient Egypt to Keep Your Hair Young

THE scientists who produced LURA Liquid Shampoo, the wonderful new tonic for the hair, have re-discovered an old Egyptian secret of the toilet.

It comes from an age when physical beauty was an object of religious worship. And so these people of Egyptian times left many hieroglyphic records of their practices, particularly that of the care of the hair.

The Care of the Hair

Egyptians, who worshipped beauty and to whom its enchantment and preservation was a religious duty, used henna to brighten and give life to the hair without changing its color.

Founded on their ancient formulas, we have blended the tonic henna with Lura Liquid Shampoo, and call it Lura Henna Shampoo. Without the henna, the shampoo is known as Lura Ideal Shampoo. This latter preparation we will speak of later.

A Wealth of Beauty in Lura Henna Shampoo

The charm of a woman is found in her glorious hair; the well-groomed man is the man whose hair indicates a careful toilet.

Lura Henna Shampoo makes possible the most careful and healthful attention to the hair because of the tonic and medicinal qualities of henna.

Lura Henna Shampoo eradicates the cause of hair and scalp troubles and gives new life to the hair. It may be used freely by persons of any age. It gives a glossiness, a silky sheen, a golden tint that is not possible by the use of any other shampoo or tonic. It brings back that wonderful natural beauty that youthfulness bestows. Not a coloring dye—Lura Henna Shampoo will not tint the hair one particle more than desired for beauty. Follow the directions. A bottle of Lura Henna Shampoo lasts many weeks, as it requires less quantity than any other shampoo and, therefore, is the most economical on the market.

Another Form of Lura—Lura Ideal Shampoo

This is a rich, cleansing liquid without henna, for those who do not need a tonic shampoo. It is far superior to other shampoos, its strength lying in the solution, which being made entirely from pure coconut oil and other salutary ingredients, insures a greater solvent of greasy and oily matters that accumulate on the scalp and in the hair. On account of the strength of the solution, you will get a much quicker, heavier and more cleansing lather than is possible with other shampoos, which at once makes your shampooing expense very moderate. For men, women and children.

Lura Henna Shampoo, oversize 8-oz. bottle; LURA Ideal Shampoo (without Henna), generous 6-oz. bottle. At all druggists.

NOTE: To prove what Lura will do for your hair, Ideal Laboratories Co., Chicago, will send sample test bottle upon receipt of 10c in coin or stamp to cover packing and postage. Be sure and state which product is desired, Lura with Henna or without.

NOMINATION COST HER $500

Mrs. Olesen, Nominated by Minnesota Democrats for U. S. Senate

To "Pioneer a Trail of Women in Politics" as She Herself Terms It

Is Eager to Get Into Campaign for the November Election

CLOQUET, Minn., June 21—(By the Associated Press)—To the country at large she may be Anna Dickie Olesen, but to this city of 800 people, she will always be Mrs. Peter Olesen, though even her husband, who is superintendent of Cloquet's schools, insists that "Anna Dickie" be substituted for the "Mrs. Peter" when she is referred to in newspapers.

And today the little family of three—especially the husband and 14-year-old daughter Mary—were thrilled with the knowledge that the wife and mother had been chosen to "pioneer a trail for women in politics" as Mrs. Olesen herself has termed it.

"It is no personal tribute," she insisted to the Associated Press. "It is only the endorsement of the democratic state platform as formulated by the state convention that endorsed me for the senate. I sought to bring that platform to the members of our party; my nomination is simply an evidence of its acceptance."

But there was no denying she was happy—happy and enthusiastic almost eager to get into the campaign for the November election, which she will press as persistently as she did her primary campaign, she said.

"I am deeply grateful to the people that have stood by me in the primary campaign," she said. "I did not seek the nomination in the Minnesota convention, but having accepted it I did the best I could—with the limited funds at my command—to make an effective campaign for the furtherance of the party's interests."

It was as Citizen Olesen she gained the nomination she insists and not through any advantage gained by her sex. "I made no plea for recognition of women in politics; I was and am ready to accept on equality with men whatever the fortunes of politics may offer."

"During my primary campaign I set up as my motto—and I shall continue to keep it before me in the fall campaign—the words of George Washington's 'Let us raise the standard to which the wise and honest can rally—the event is in the hands of God.'"

Spent $500 in Campaign

Not more than $500 was spent by Mrs. Olesen in her primary campaign, she said. She visited nearly 40 towns and cities in every section of the state, traveling in a small sedan automobile given her by friends. Most of the time she did her own driving. It was only after she received the endorsement of the democratic state convention that Mrs. Olesen became known as Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen. A ruling of the state attorney general's office that she could not legally file as Mrs. Peter Olesen, necessitated the change to the name that appeared on the ballot.

Interest in the welfare of young girls four years ago brought Mrs. Olesen to the attention of her community, then the state, as she took up the cause of girls through the agency of women's clubs.

In 1918 she became president of the Women's Clubs of the Eighth Minnesota district and later was named as vice-president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs. During the war Mrs. Olesen delivered many patriotic talks and these brought her to state-wide attention. Subsequently, with hostilities at an end, she engaged in Chautauqua work.

Born in La Sueur county, 36 years ago, Mrs. Olesen came from a family which had pioneered to Minnesota.

Raised on a Farm

Raised on a farm where she lived until she was married, she traveled three miles each day to reach the high school at Waterville, Minn., for her early education.

Housework, Mrs. Olesen declared, does not have to be neglected by the woman in politics, any more than a woman in club work need have her kitchen sink constantly piled high with dishes. She explained:

"A man takes part in civic affairs without neglecting his vocation, and a woman can as readily adjust herself to the new order that is sure to accompany the advent of women in politics."

Boilermakers Oppose Strike

Burnside shops of the Illinois Central were that the boilermakers there had voted overwhelmingly against a strike.

Only five days remain before the general committee of 90, representing the rail workers meet in Chicago to canvass the returns. The general chairman was expected to arrive Friday and Saturday, intending to begin the ballot count on Sunday. B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, who urged the union voters to return their ballots early, so the result could be announced at the same time the $135,000,000 wage cuts became effective, July 1, is expected back from the Cincinnati convention tomorrow.

Rail workers and their leaders today were digesting the reply of Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Railroad Labor board to the nine union chiefs who informed the board that a strike would be authorized if the referendum favors a suspension of work on the roads.

What effect Mr. Hooper's statement that the proposed strike would be disastrous to the railway unions, unfortunate for their members and unjust to the public, would have on the balloting the remainder of the week, was a matter of conjecture.

Mr. Hooper's letter, which was addressed to Mr. Jewell, said the strike would not be taken on any misunderstanding of the action or attitude of the board, and asserted that the ultimatum of the union chiefs manifested "a strikingly distorted conception of what the board has done and why it did it."

Mr. Hooper said although he felt no reply was required, he also felt it his duty to answer the union leaders in the interest of railway peace, and because the interest of the public contains such possibilities of loss and detriment to the strikers.

Story of Hair Pulling Match

that she feared for her children's safety and attempted to get them into the house where they would be safe from flying shells. If any were to fly, seeing that she would not be able to halt the fast coming enemy, Mrs. Stavropoulos admitted that she threw a small puff of lint which she later charged on a cross-examination to a puff of ashes down upon Mrs. Bazikas.

Falls to Halt Enemy

The ash barrage failed to slow up the defendant who gained her objective in a few short bounds. From here on the story differs in some respects. Mrs. Stavropoulos claimed that Mrs. Bazikas grabbed her by the hair, pushed her down into a bathtub, tried to submerge her head in the water, beat her and finished up by hitting her several times.

One of the plaintiff's children rushed for reserves and two men and a woman arrived on the scene and separated the combatants. The defendant told a different story of what started the trouble. She said she was putting some garbage into a can when Mrs. Stavropoulos threw a handful of ashes down upon her. She then admitted that she made her attempt to storm the fortress.

A Mrs. Sullivan, who lives across the way, testified that she saw part of the fracas and said that the two women jostled about the piazza in a good old-fashioned hair pulling contest. She also claimed that when two men came to separate the batters, one of them struck the defendant over the head with a stick and that her cry of "stop" prevented the other from bringing down his raked club. She added that when Mrs. Bazikas was leaving the piazza she was showered with cans full of ashes.

In passing sentence the court said that while the assault seemed provoked, it was not sufficient reason for the defendant to attack the plaintiff. The probation sentence was given at the suggestion of the prosecuting attorney.

Defendant Discharged

Elmira Daganella was discharged on a charge of assault and battery following the telling of her story and the element of doubt surrounding the case. She was accused by Mrs. Adele M. Molard of 47 Lilly avenue of pushing her and striking her over the head with an umbrella. The complainant testified that she had been called abusive names and that her character had been defamed by the defendant. The husband of the defendant said there were no blows struck and the husband of the plaintiff claims there were. In making his finding the court said that there was an element of uncertainty about the case and that, as the stories were directly opposite, and because he had not been satisfied with the evidence, he ordered the defendant discharged.

Massed Afarak, who pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of a pair of baby shoes, a pillow case and some clothes from a local department store, had his case filed upon the agreement that he would make restitution.

head of the store was satisfied not to push the case, as the defendant had six small children.

Joseph E. Roy pleaded guilty to operating an unregistered auto, and to operating an auto without a license. He was fined $10 on each complaint.

Sarah A. Arthur found guilty of being a stubborn child, had a former sentence revoked and was sent to the state institution at Sherburne.

Jennie Goodwin pleaded guilty to drug peddling and had her case continued to tomorrow. She was recently been paroled from the house of correction. The case was continued for investigation.

Johnson Again Suspends Ruth

York game, will keep him out of the game two days, in addition to the three days' suspension imposed yesterday, President Ban Johnson of the American league announced today. Ruth consequently will not be able to play until Sunday.

President Johnson increased the home run king's suspension, originally three days, for disputing a decision made by Dineen in Monday's game at Cleveland, to five days when he received a long report from the umpire today, detailing remarks made by the outfielder yesterday, when ordered off the field in compliance with Mr. Johnson's first ruling.

Mr. Johnson announced that Ruth is suspended without pay and that this feature of the decision will cost Babe $1500 or $300 a day, which was said by the American league president to be the player's salary.

"Babe Ruth is going to behave himself or I'll keep him out of the game all summer," Mr. Johnson said.

THE THREATENED RAILROAD STRIKE

Threats of a general railroad strike are made by a body of railroad workers numbering 1,225,000, who are to suffer a reduction in wages to take effect on July 1. For several years past the railroads have been protesting against the wage schedule as the chief cause of their inability to reduce freight rates and begging the Railroad Labor Board to authorize a reduction in the rates.

In the first place, let it be premised that this Railroad Labor Board is a body of nine men appointed under legislation by congress for the purpose of fixing wages on railroads and thereby preventing strikes. Three members represent the railroads, three the employees and three the public. In the decisions that have been made for a reduction in wages, the three labor men voted against the reduction; but the six other members were unanimous in recommending the change as in the ordinary process of economic deflation.

It had been shown that between January, 1914, and July, 1921, the wages of railroad workers had been increased nearly 200 per cent, a hard statement to believe; and as deflation had set in in other industries, the Labor Board, decided to exercise the authority vested in it under the Transportation Act and order gradual reductions in wages. Accordingly, nearly a year ago the wages of all railroad workers were reduced 11 per cent. On May 28 last, the wages of shop laborers and maintenance of way men were cut an additional 13 per cent. On June 6, the wages of six other unions were also reduced 13 per cent and on June 17 a cut of from two to six cents an hour was ordered for railway clerks, signalmen and stationary firemen, bringing the total reductions effective July 1 to about $135,000,000.

The members of the four big train service brotherhoods, namely, the engineers, the firemen, conductors and trainmen are not as yet affected by any of the Labor Board's reductions. But their turn will doubtless come later. Meantime, the unions affected have been balloting on a strike and so far as reported, the decision seems to be in favor of a walkout. The minority report of two labor members of the Railroad Labor Board in protest against the reductions counsels a strike in rather inflammatory language to which, however, the majority replies, defending its decisions as just and right and made necessary by economic conditions which no union, no industry and no government agency can control. The minority report declared that the bases on which the Railroad Board's decision was made are not sufficient to justify the action taken; that the reasons offered for the cut go far beyond the provisions of the Transportation Act; that new rates of wages do not insure continuance of previous standards of living; that basing railroad wages on similar wages in outside industries is not sufficient reason for a reduction at present and that the new wages condemn those railroad workers to lives of extreme poverty. Now the question with this vast body of railroad workers is, whether to strike or not to strike. There is no doubt that all will quit the service very promptly if the strike order be issued; but under present conditions and in view of the economic conditions, we believe it would be a most grievous mistake to strike. It is doubtful if a strike would avert the reductions or even a cut in the percentage. We believe it is the better course for the men affected to hold their places and thus do what they can up to the point to secure the best wages and best working conditions possible. In perhaps a year hence or a year after the new tariff law shall have taken effect, prices will bound upward and if so, the unions could then assert their power to secure a restoration of the cuts now made.

A general railroad strike at this time, would be something in the nature of a national calamity. In this respect a railroad strike is different from any other, because if continued only for a few weeks it would cause a tie-up of the food supply and leave hundreds of thousands threatened with starvation. The more general effect would be the demoralization of industry throughout the country.

One thing that the unions should insist upon after the cut takes effect is, the abolition of the contract system as applied to shipwork. That system would place a shop, such as that located at Billerica, under private management so that the proprietors could gouge the men as they pleased without any interference from the Railroad Labor Board. This system removes the work from the provisions of the Transportation Act. That is one reason why it is an evasion of the law and should be abolished. There are many other grievances which the men can have redressed quite as well and perhaps even better without going out on strike. No great railroad strike such as proposed can command public sympathy under present conditions.

If a railroad strike came on top of the miners' strike, which may last all summer, the industrial conditions throughout the country would soon become deplorable. To prevent the threatened railroad strike the government should exert its influence; but the railroad men want the reductions annulled and of that there is very little possibility judging from the present outlook.

AS TO MOONSHINE STILL

Considerable surprise was caused by the statement of Capt. Palmer of the liquor squad a few days ago, to the effect that the force of which he is the head had combed the city through for moonshine stills and could not find any. It is noticeable that within the past few weeks, the liquor squad has not brought in as many offenders as it had been doing some weeks previously. Yet nobody believes that the local situation has undergone any radical change. The question arises as to whether Capt. Palmer is lying down on his job. It may be in order for Supt. Atkinson to see whether some change might be advisable in the personnel of the liquor squad. We do not intimate that the liquor law is being violated more freely in Lowell than in most other cities, but we put no faith in the allegation that there are no stills in operation here.

CROSSING FATALITIES

In spite of every precaution, the deaths at railroad crossings continue and even become more numerous. The question arises, what can be done to prevent these accidents. There are still a great many crossings in country places wholly unguarded and where only the caution of drivers can ensure their safety. It should not be a difficult matter to provide some mechanical device that would warn motorists of danger ahead. This could be done by some overhanging sign, by a light at night or by a bell to be rung by the weight of the vehicle passing a spring set in the road. Perhaps the best method of enforcing caution would be a law providing that all motor vehicles shall come to a full stop before passing over a railroad crossing. Such a law would call for some suitable sign to warn vehicles of the crossing ahead.

THE COAL QUESTION

Eugene C. Hultman, fuel administrator, has been invited by the legislature with authority to protect the people of the commonwealth against any attempt at profiteering in the sale of coal. If the coal strike continues for a month or two longer, there may be a real scarcity in Massachusetts.

and it may be necessary to adopt the same method of apportionment of the coal supply that was put in force here during the war. There is no doubt that Mr. Hultman will protect the people against any combination of coal dealers that might attempt to push up the price of coal beyond what would be just or warranted under the circumstances. Without some such protection, the people would be at the mercy of speculators.

MCCALL'S DECISION

Ex-Governor McCall, whose name has been mentioned in the press as a possible candidate for senator, has now seen fit to set the rumor at rest by declaring that he will not be a candidate. Some people felt that they might induce McCall to seek the nomination as an independent, simply as a means of helping to defeat Lodge but without any prospect of the ex-governor's election. Mr. McCall could not see the advisability of being made a tool for any clique of politicians and hence his decision. He will undoubtedly use his influence, however, against Mr. Lodge, but in favor of some other republican candidate.

It is announced that a federal collector is in Lawrence for the purpose of seeing what can be done with a view to reaching a settlement of the textile strike. Unfortunately, the work of the federal conciliators in dealing with New England mill strikes for the last few months has not been such as to offer much ground for hope of their success in Lawrence.

Certain tracts of land are mentioned in the Highlands as suitable for public playgrounds. The Highlands district, despite its great importance, has been neglected in regard to playgrounds and public parks. A sufficient area should be set aside there for a public park and unless this be done in the near future, the opportunity will be lost inasmuch as all the vacant land will soon be built upon.

The Eastern Massachusetts Railway has granted a five-cent fare in the Chelsea district. It is hoped that it will soon be able to grant the nickel fare in the down-town district in Lowell.

SEEN AND HEARD

Booze is sold on United States ships. There is more freedom of the sea than freedom of the land.

Doctors say vegetables will make one strong; but elephants are strictly vegetarians.

People go on picnics to forget everything. This usually includes salt and pepper for the eggs.

A Thought

In the exact proportion in which men are bred capable of warm affection, common sense and self-command and are educated to love, to think and to endure, they become noble, live happily, die calmly, are remembered with perpetual honor by their race, and for the perpetual good of it.—John Ruskin.

Today's Word

Today's word is ambiguous. It's pronounced aw-big-u-u-s. It means—doubtful, uncertain, capable of being understood in more than one way. It comes from—Latin "ambigere," to wander about. It's used like this—"Recent rulings by the Interstate Commerce Commission have been criticized somewhat, on the ground that they are ambiguous."

Ever See One of These?

A few days ago a strange animal hopped out of a bunch of South American bananas in Denver after they had traveled 10 days in refrigerated containers. It was a face like a pig, long tail like a kangaroo and climbed like a monkey. The man unloading the bananas started after it with a stick. It grabbed hold of the stick with its forepaws and refused to let go. All Denver is wondering what it is. At present it is known as the "wheelies."

Sold Family for a Dollar

William Kolesinski, Detroit, Mich., needed money. All he had to offer was his wife, 18-year-old son Walter, 3-year-old daughter and a girl baby. The amount he needed was one dollar. His friend, Deyden Bannas, heard of the bargain and purchased the outfit, and a bill of sale, he thought, completed the bargain. Walter, kicked to the police. Now Kolesinski awaits deportation proceedings. Bannas loses the family and everybody is unhappy.

Kansas Man African King

Hill P. Wilson, Jr., a Kansas boy, is now king of a tribe of wild negroes in South Africa. He went over there a few years ago as a superintendent of some diamond mines. The old king died and the natives got into a squabble over the election of a successor and killed off all the candidates. Then they got together and elected Wilson king. He is the first white man to hold that office. He rules over 500 subjects, all negroes. Most of them work in his diamond mines.

Mound Builders' Secrets

The prehistoric mounds built nobody knows how many centuries ago by the mound builders are now being opened by Warren K. Moorehead, noted archaeologist. After five weeks' work he has unearthed 62 skeletons, 23 jars and urns, countless small ornaments, implements of peace and war and an altar 16 feet in diameter and 2 feet high. The skulls of the mound builders show they were a powerful race physically with large brain cavities, also with protruding lower jaw usually associated with the cruelty and cunning of the animal. Fragments of pottery indicate the mound builders were more artistic than those of the races north of the cliff dwellers.

Crossing the Bar

Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound or foam,
When that which drew from under the boom
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell,
When I embark.

For the from out our hours of Time
And Place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

A very pretty miscellaneous shower was given recently to Miss Vera Cornell at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Frank McCall, 136 Pleasant Street. About 35 of Miss Cornell's friends took part in the good time. Mary Sullivan presided at the piano and vocal selections were given by Mrs. Florence and Mrs. Nugent. One of the features of the evening was a mock marriage in which Miss Vicki Sullivan was the bride, Miss Florence Buckley, the groom, and Miss Edna Ryan the minister.

BIRD'S Art-Craft Roof

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

People using certain types of street cars during the past few days have complained of not having sufficient protection from the rain. There are a few cars now on the local street railways, which used to be open cars. They are the large double truck variety. They were mounted by means of a running board. With the coming of the one-man car they were changed over and made into one-man affairs with the entrance in the front. During rainy weather it is almost impossible to keep the seats dry under the present arrangement. The protruding seats do not allow the side curtains to be pulled low enough to shield the seats from water. Consequently passengers using this type of car were forced to stand during the past three days owing to the rain on the seats.

The law which provides a fine for persons having in their possession milk below standard seems to be a bit unjust; at least it has worked out that way in several instances in the local court and on each occasion the court has not been a bit backward in expressing regret. According to the reading of the law, persons who have in their possession milk below standard are subject to fine regardless of where they got the milk; the possession of it is enough for conviction. In the past month several men have been haled into court and fined for this violation. The judge has told them that he is sorry but that they must live up to the law. Regarding the fines, in every instance the defendants have proved they were not to blame. Milk below the standard does not always mean that the milk has been watered or tampered with in any way; it often means that it does not contain the required percentage of solids and butter fat. When the court has a case of adulterated milk to deal with its aspect changes. He shows no sympathy and does all in his power to punish the offender.

Lowell and vicinity was not the only section of the country visited by terrific rains. I happened to take a trip up through New Hampshire and Vermont over the week-end and ran into three days of steady rain. It might be interesting for those who contemplate auto trips to know something of the condition of the roads. On the way up the roads were in good condition. There were short stretches which were a bit rough, but this is only the usual condition. To Concord, through Nashua, Manchester, over the Daniel Webster highway, the roads are excellent. From there on to White River Junction, Vt., the roads were only fair. But coming back on Monday the road from White River to Concord was in terrible condition. The mud was hub-deep and the road-bed all washed out. It took nearly twice as long to make the trip back as in going up. In some places for a mile at a stretch it was impossible to make more than four or five miles per hour. From Concord down to Lowell the road is still in prime condition.

Readers of this column, who have been over the Mohawk Trail, or who have been told of its steepness will approve the contemplated action of placing more frequent intervals along the trail. These men will be stationed on the brows of the steeper hills and will stop all motorists and insist they put their machines into low gear before starting the descent. By taking the down grades in second, or low gear, a powerful braking influence is exerted by the compression of the engine and the entire strain isn't concentrated on the brake bands. Many bad accidents have occurred "over the trail" as the result of burning out of brake bands and the like. It is believed that these sentinels, if given the proper authority, will do much to lessen the number of accidents.

After the ice storm of last winter, loss of foliage expressed fear that New England would suffer a grievous loss this year because of the damage done to the trees. As a matter of fact one has to look hard, just now to discover evidences of the storm's damage along most of the shaded streets. The elms show signs of having been broken off, and among the tops, but the maples never looked any better than they do at the present time. Much damage was also done to fruit trees, but these too, will be taken care of by Nature. The local park department put in a great deal of hard work in trimming trees and doing the best it could to make them again beautiful. While here and there withered condition, most of them seemed to have recovered from the severe cutting of frost.

A corpse seen near a dwelling in Scotland is believed to portend death to one of its inmates.

MILES' OFTEN

HAD TO LAY OFF FROM HIS WORK

"The Way Tanlac Put Me On My Feet Was a Revelation," Declares Boston Citizen—Suffered 12 Years

"If I should live to be a hundred years old I will always praise Tanlac," is the enthusiastic statement of James R. Miles, of 18 Dillon street, Boston. Mr. Miles is an expert concrete worker and has been in the service of a large Boston concern for nearly thirty years. "For twelve years past," said he, "I have simply suffered and on account of my kidneys. I couldn't stoop over and do my work without my back aching like I would break. I seldom got more than two or three hours sleep a night and many a day I was in such misery that I had to lay off from my work. At one time I was in such a bad fix I feared I would have to undergo an operation. Tanlac has proved a revelation to me. I had no idea there was such a wonderful medicine in the world. Four bottles have just the same as made a new man of me. I can now stoop and bend about as handily as an athlete and never feel a pain. Tanlac has acted as a tonic for me, for I now eat better, sleep fine and feel a great deal stronger. I certainly was lucky for me that Tanlac came my way." (Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.)—Adv.

TUBERCULOSIS CAMP FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Plans for a camp which would take care of local ex-service men who are suffering from tuberculosis, were talked over at last night's meeting of Chapter 5, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, which was held in Memorial hall with Commander Harry O'Sullivan in the chair. The local chapter will attempt to either rent or buy a camp site and fit it up with all the necessary equipment needed in caring for the service men. The task of financing such a proposition was discussed at great length and it was decided that some scheme would have to be discovered to raise the necessary funds. Detailed plans for raising the money will be announced at a later date.

GRADUATING CLASS OUTING POSTPONED

The annual outing of the graduating class of the Greenhalge grammar school, which was scheduled for today at Willow Dale, was postponed until further notice.

The members of St. John's church will hold an outing at Lakeview, Saturday, June 24. Special cars will leave the church at 9:30 and the return trip will be made at 6 o'clock in the evening. The affair is in charge of H. L. Bishop.

On Thursday, June 22, the Calvary Baptist church will hold an outing at Willow Dale. Special cars will leave Liberty and Hastings streets at 10 a. m. returning at 6 in the evening. Sterling Crosby has charge of arrangements.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres Own Press Agents)

THE STRAND

"The Right That Failed," a fine romance with that popular screen star, Bert Lytell again demonstrating his marked versatility, and Frank Mayo, a regular story of the west, are to be shown for the last time today at The Strand. It's a program that they are "all talking about." Don't miss it. For the last three days of the week, starting with matinee on Thursday, Tom Mix in "Chasing the Moon" and Gladys Walton in "Second-Hand Rose" will be featured. It's needless to comment on the Mix picture story. It's one of his newest creations of action, comedy and delightful romance. If you think that the star has reached the limit of his hair-raising thrills you should admit your error for "Chasing the Moon" introduces Tom in a new characterization and new stunts that are bigger, better and more gripping than ever. They "will give you a right out of your seat." "Second-Hand Rose," in which Gladys Walton appears, is a film story based on the popular song of the same name. In it Miss Walton is seen in a character role that compares favorably with the best she has appeared in. She is seen as the innocent little girl who is lured to get everything second-hand, even to a husband. It has lots of humor and enough pathos and dramatic phases to make it wonderfully good.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Manager Nelson has booked another program of typical Merrimack Square excellence for the second half of the week. The features for Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be "I Am the Law," a strong, dramatic story of the Northwest mounted on a picture of the all-star cast, and "Bobbed Hair," starring Wanda Hawley in one of her most delightful comedies.

Brimsful of action, sparkling with scenes of splendor and enacted by a cast headed by six of the world's best known stars, "I Am the Law" tells the story of the northwestern country, the story of a desert land where the law of their own and where the desperadoes of civilization go to make their last gold strike.

"I Am the Law" tells the story of brother against brother—of blood kinship turned to frenzied hate—of the fury of the northlands, blinding snow gales, of the indomitable power of the Royal Northwest Mounted, of the snow tracks, the mind-blowing storm and retreat—all depicted in a story of emotion, remarkable acting, red-blooded plot and breath taking action. The leading roles are played by Kenneth Harlan, Alice Lake, Rosemary Thoby, Noah Berry, Wallace Cary and Gaston Glass.

Wanda Hawley's latest photoplay, "Bobbed Hair," the second big feature for the week-end, presents Miss Hawley in one of the finest roles of her career. She is seen as a spoiled, spoiled girl who tires of home life and lands in a futuristic art colony with interesting results. This is a picture that appeals by the humor of its situations as well as by the drama of its story. A comedy and the International News will complete the bill.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem FORTUNE

If a guy has love, he can get along
Though all of the rest of his luck goes wrong.
He can keep his cheer and his courage, too,
Till somehow or other he struggles through.
For there's someone whispering, "Kid, I'm here,
And you know I'll stick to you always, dear."
Why, there's nothing on earth to be frightened of,
If a guy has love.

Success—what is it? It's getting what You think you wanted. But when it's got,
It's only a kind of a hollow sham,
That ain't worth even a tinker's damn.
Unless you share it with one who cares;
Why, that's the best of it, everywhere.
You and misfortune are hand in glove,
If you ain't got love.

If a guy has love he can stand the gaff,
He can take the ups and downs, and laugh;
He can face his troubles, unknown and known,
With a buoyant heart—for he ain't alone.
His pains are tempered, his wounds are soothed,
His joys are doubled, his woes are halved,
He's got a gift from the heavens above,
If a guy has love!

FIRE CHIEFS' CLUB REV. FRANCIS L. KEENAN

About 200 Members Guests
of the City of Lawrence
Today

LAWRENCE, June 21.—About 200 members of the fire chiefs' club of Massachusetts and others prominently connected with fire departments in various parts of New England, were guests of the city of Lawrence today. Chief Francis J. Morris of the local department was in charge of the entertainment program.

Following a parade of Lawrence's recently motorized department and a demonstration by the motor pumps, the visitors were shown about the city and were taken through one of the American Woolen Co.'s mills. Dinner was served at the Merrimack Valley Country club.

TO RUN ON FULL TIME

Douglas Shoe Factory of
Brockton to Begin 48-Hour
Schedule on June 27

BROCKTON, June 21.—Announcement was made by the W. L. Douglas shoe Co., today that beginning June 27 its men's factories will run on a full schedule of 48 hours weekly, and increase the daily volume of men's shoes 1200 pairs. Full time is assured for some time ahead, Vice President A. L. Tinkham says.

Douglas factories since early spring have operated on a maximum of 40 hours per week. The daily output for the run just closing has been less than 6,000 pairs.

BOARD GRANTS MINOR LICENSES

Lowell Priest to Be Transferred for Duty at Brighton Seminary

It was reported from St. Patrick's rectory today that Rev. Francis L. Keenan, who has been a curate in that parish for the last three years, has been transferred by His Eminence, Cardinal O'Connell for duty at Brighton seminary. The transfer will take effect this week. This news will cause great regret in St. Patrick's parish where Fr. Keenan has endeared himself to the entire congregation by his zeal and untiring efforts for the spiritual welfare of the people. He had charge of the C.M.S. and was spiritual director of the Holy Name society and of the A.O.H. He was also director of the Sunday school of St. Patrick's parish. He has delivered several public addresses on the Irish question which marked him as an orator of ability. His sermons in the pulpit were always scholarly and uplifting.

TO OPPOSE SEN. LODGE

Joseph Walker Takes Out
Papers for Republican
Nomination

BOSTON, June 21.—Joseph Walker, former speaker of the Massachusetts house took out nomination blanks at the State House today in pursuance of his intention to seek the republican nomination for the United States senate in opposition to Senator Lodge. He was republican candidate for governor in 1912, and progressive candidate for the same office in 1914. Russell A. Wood of Cambridge and Washington Cook of Sharon are others who are expected to contest for the republican senatorial nomination in the primary on Sept. 12.

Col. William A. Gaston, chairman of the board of the National Shawmut bank, who arrived home from Europe yesterday, said today that he was about ready to start his campaign for the democratic nomination for the senate and that he would issue a public statement within a few days. His opponents in the primary will be John Jackson Walsh and Dallas Lore Sharp.

Leonard Has Nothing to Lose—Britton Everything

JACK BRITTON BENNY LEONARD

At the New York Velodrome, on June 21, Jack Britton, veteran of boxers and champion of the welterweights, will be called upon to make the fight of his life.

He makes it with Benny Leonard, chief cook of the lightweights, in a 15-round decision bout for the welter title.

Twice before they have met, once in New York and again in Philadelphia. There was no argument about the first melee, it was Benny's, but the Quick-thrower's acrobatic was disputed jointly by Jack.

Leonard can't lose.

Leonard has everything to gain and nothing to lose. He can't lose his championship and Britton can.

Leonard is a terrific fighter. Britton faces one of the worst fighters in the ring with a record for stringing the knives. Jack is one of the hardest men to lay a blow on that ever resisted a foot. He is always stepping from a blow just to the junction. He isn't a heavy hitter, but the continuous wag of the head and his ring smartness have kept the welter from swinging him to the mat.

Weight Even The chances are that Britton will not outweigh the light king to any degree. He will have to worry about the 147 mark. Leonard's overweight has always been a matter of discussion. He is light-weight has ever worn the welter crown and if Benny does connect he will win one of the most popular boxers in the game. He could let the 132 title slide gracefully and make the welter poundage much easier.

TONIGHT'S GAME

Broadways vs. Y.M.C.I.

Before a surprisingly large crowd, considering the threat of rain and the general dampness, the Y.M.C.I. with Odrway on the rubber for the first time, blanked the K. of C. 8 to 0 in last night's Twilight League game on the South common.

The Y.M.C.I. started the "Caseys" blew a home run in the first inning. Jim Linton started for the Belvidere outfit, getting in front of one of Daley's shots and going to first. Odrway followed with a walk. Jenkins drove a sizzler to Purcell, who stepped on a double and threw to first, executing a fast double play.

Odrway left for second the Knights recovered confidence, only to have it dispelled a moment later when Cawley drove a hard hit grounder through Twohey at second, scoring Odrway, who advanced to third on a passed ball. Merritt struck out.

Crowds drove a peach to deep left for the K. of C. reaching third easily before the ball was returned. To the surprise of everyone on the common, Empire Odrway called him out, alleging that he did not touch second. Those who had watched the runner rather than the ball had seen the second outman swing out of position when Cawley kicked it pasting by. Buckley followed with a single, and was out trying to steal second. Loftus popped to Condon.

In the third, with Jenkins on first as the result of a free pass, Cawley advanced to the plate and called for an examination of the ball. Odrway found it to be somewhat out of shape, and a new ball substituted. Daley at once grooved the pill, just the way how easy it was and Cawley dropped the ball far over Abou Buckley's head in center, one of the longest drives seen on the common since Long John Smith parted on over the back gate. Ed was on the bench when the ball came back to the diamond.

In the fourth, the slaughter continued, with two more lullies for the Cawley crew. Condon reached first on one of Purcell's rare errors. Ray Linton secured his second base on a fly. Odrway, attempting to sacrifice, popped a little fly in the general direction of short. Daley or Purcell should have caught the ball easily, but neither made the attempt. Purcell taking it as it rolled on, and throwing Odrway out at first. There should have been no advance at all on the play, but Condon made it.

Condon occupied third and second, respectively, as the result of the "Caseys" temporary lapse. Jim Linton, sending in both runners, and Parkey Daley removed himself from the box, replacing Twohey at second and calling on Scully for a meaty drive. Scully started off with a strikeout at Odrway's expense, and then passed Jenkins. Cawley filed out to Harrington in right.

In the fifth the Y.M.C.I. resumed their ramble about the bases. Merritt walked, and was out at second on McCadams' attempted sacrifice. Condon also attempted to sacrifice, but the throw was made to second and McCadams called safe. Linton, the younger, walked for the third time, filling the bases. Odrway struck out. Jim Linton singled, scoring McCadams, and Odrway

A GREETING IN PICTURES FROM CHRISTY MATHEWSON

"Just tell the boys for me that old Mully has won the greatest game of his life," said baseball's greatest hero as the movie man photographed him at Saratoga Lake, N. How to Play Baseball

Shift for Batter, Says Roger Peckinpaugh

ROGER PECKINPAUGH

By ROGER PECKINPAUGH Washington Shortstop

A shortstop must possess a strong throwing arm and be able to throw the ball accurately from any position. In fielding a ball, watch closely the bounds in which and try to get to the position yourself that you will always get the high bounce.

In handling the ball try to be in a position to throw, so that you will be able to get it away quickly. In other words play the ball, don't let it play you.

Next comes the study of the batsman. Learn what direction he usually hits a ball, and move to the right or left, as the case may be, as soon as he comes to the bat.

Change Position

On a batsman who is fast, and especially on a left-handed hitter, you must play closer to the plate. Other-wise you could not throw him out on a slow hit ball.

Always play as far back as possible on slow runners, for you then have more time to get in front of balls hit to either side of you.

Some batters hit left field most of the time, others to right field, and others are likely to hit to either left or right, depending on where the ball is pitched.

Most hitters will pull a curve or slow ball that is right-handers will hit either style delivery to left field, and left-handers will pull a slow one or a curve to right field.

Be Ready to Go

Therefore after you have taken your position on a batsman, and you know a curve or slow ball is being pitched, you should be ready to step in the direction the batsman usually hits such balls, and in the opposite direction when a fast ball is pitched.

In covering second base on a hit and run play, the shortstop usually covers with a left-handed batter up when a curve or slow ball is skinned for by the catcher. The second baseman covers on a fast or waste ball.

On a right-handed batter it is just the opposite.

Keep your eye on the ball. Concentrate on every ball pitched. Always know just how many are out, how many are on the bases, and the score. These conditions often call for different ways of handling certain plays. The shortstop must be alert to every situation.

TWO CHAMPIONS LOSE TITLES

N. Y. Commission Deprives Kilbane and Wilson of Titular Rights

Declare Championships Forfeited Because of Failure to Meet Challengers

NEW YORK, June 21.—Two champions of the ring—Johnny Kilbane and Johnny Wilson, respectively featherweight and middleweight titleholders—stood deprived of their titular rights today as far as the jurisdiction of the New York State Athletic commission is concerned for failure to accept the terms of challenges.

Kilbane's championship claims were declared forfeited by the commission for ignoring Johnny Dundee's challenge. In Wilson's case although a challenge was withheld to give him the full benefit of the time limit his title was considered automatically forfeited today for failure to agree before midnight last night to terms for a match with Harry Greb light heavyweight king.

The commission's action establishing a precedent in ring history, was the result of notice served on Kilbane and Wilson several weeks ago that they must comply with the commission's demands by June 20 would mean the forfeiture of their titles, so far as New York is concerned.

The commission's official announcement that Dundee and Danny Frush of Cleveland would be considered as leading contenders for Kilbane's featherweight title was followed last night by the announcement in Cleveland by Frush's manager that he had signed a 15-round decision contest with Dundee at Ebbett's Field, Brooklyn, Aug. 17.

Dave Rosenberg of Brooklyn and Greb will be contenders for the commission as the leading contenders for Wilson's title.

No Action in Bay State

BOSTON, June 21.—Commissioner Eugene Buckley of the Massachusetts boxing commission said last night that the Massachusetts body would not take any notice of any action of the New York boxing commission declaring vacant the title of middleweight champion of Johnny Wilson and featherweight champion Johnny Kilbane.

According to the laws governing the New York commission that body has the right to take such action, but such a ruling is confined to that state alone.

BROWNS SHOWING WAY

Fohl Has Team Playing Championship Ball But Refuses to Predict Pennant

ST. LOUIS, June 21. (By the Associated Press)—Leo Fohl, who resigned as manager of the Cleveland Indians in 1919, today has the St. Louis Browns in the lead in the American League race, as to whether his club will win the pennant as expected by St. Louis fans.

Expecting a hard battle with the Yankees and the Detroit Tigers for the top rung, Fohl declared the Browns are getting some of the "breaks" and that the machine is running smoothly. Ability to develop star players and remarkably good judgment in switching his batting order to obtain the best results, are held responsible for Fohl's success with the Browns.

Fohl came to St. Louis in June, 1920, almost a year after he quit as Cleveland pilot, owing to criticism for allowing a pitcher to pitch to "Babe" Ruth instead of passing him in a critical situation of a game with the Red Sox. Ruth won the game with a home run. He was made assistant manager to James Burke, a popular native son, who died in the spring of 1921, succeeded Burke as manager.

The manager did not appeal to the followers of the Browns very well at first. The Browns were disappointed with Fohl's removal. But Fohl gradually won confidence by piloting the Browns into third place in 1921 after the team got off to a poor start.

Pairings Announced

SANDWICH, England, June 21.—(By the Associated Press) Pairings for the 72 holes of stroke competition, beginning tomorrow, which will decide the British open golf championship for 1922, were announced today.

Jack Hutchinson, the American, who is defending his title as British open champion, is paired with H. Jones of Bromley, who is paired with J. G. L. Holland of Northamptonshire and Jim Barnes is matched with Tom Williamson of Nottinghamshire.

Joe Kirkwood, the Australian champion, will play with E. R. Whitcombe of Dorchester.

BABE RUTH THREATENS UMPIRE DINEEN

CLEVELAND, June 21.—Angered because of his three-day suspension by President H. B. Johnson of the American League, "Babe" Ruth, baseball's most famous batsman, threatened Umpire Bill Dineen, and only prompt intervention by members of the Cleveland Indians averted a clash between the two prior to yesterday's game between New York and Cleveland.

Ruth's suspension followed his expulsion from Monday's game by Umpire Dineen because of abusive language used to the umpire. The champion batsman was told that name and President Johnson's ruling yesterday.

After participating in practice with his team, Ruth encountered Dineen at the Cleveland dugout while on his way to the clubhouse.

"If you ever put me out of a game again I'll fix you so you will never umpire again, even if they put me out of baseball," he threatened.

An argument then ensued in which Ruth told Dineen "You're yellow."

Further words passed between the two during which Ruth is alleged to have threatened Dineen with a bat and to have invited Dineen to accompany him beneath the grandstand, at the same time doubling up his fists and walking toward the umpire.

Dineen thereupon threw down his mask and prepared for action, but before any blows were struck Manager Casper Dyer intervened, and Dineen's intervention and persuaded Ruth to go to the clubhouse.

JIMMY MURPHY PLANS INNOVATION

CHICAGO, June 21.—Jimmy Murphy, speed demon, plans an innovation in automobile racing, he revealed here today. He intends to use eight carburetors on his new 100-horsepower, 12-cylinder built motor. He said that in the Indianapolis speedway race, he drove the 500 miles without a generator.

In the Hoosier Classic Murphy said, he decided to use two batteries direct after he had been having generator trouble, but found he needed only one battery for victory.

"I don't think this motor can be touched, this year at least," he said, "it is the latest development in small, high speed engines."

ST. PETER'S CADETS' BASEBALL TEAM

The St. Peter's Cadets' baseball team, representing Lowell's new military organization, is fast rounding into mid-season form. The Cadets have won seven straight games, defeating such teams as the Belmonts, Shamrocks, White Stars and the St. Columban, the latter 12 to 1. Just as soon as the school term ends the Cadets will play all fast teams in and around Boston.

The Cadet lineup is as follows: Netto, O'Shea and Welch, pitchers; Ed, Carr, catcher; Barron, McInnes, O'Day and O'Connell, infielders; Scully, J. Barron and Fagan, outfielders. Games are wanted with all fast teams in and around Lowell, the age limit being 16 to 19. Answer through this paper or call 2172-R.

YANKEES WIN WITHOUT RUTH

New York Team Ends Losing Streak of Eight Games by Beating Indians

St. Louis and Detroit Continue to Win—William Makes 18th Homer

NEW YORK, June 21.—Without Babe Ruth and battling to emerge from a slump that cost them their lead in the American League race, the New York Yankees took the third game of a series from Cleveland yesterday, ended a losing streak of eight games. Sam Jones was rushed to the rescue, the eighth when Joe Bush faltered and checked the Indians, enabling Hughes to squeeze out a 5-5 victory.

18th Homer for Williams

The Yankees were to regain any lost ground in the pennant race as the flying St. Louis Browns slugger, four of Connie Mack's twirlers a won 7-3 from the Mackmen. Knute Williams smashed out his 18th home run, a single, and two homers.

Red Faber weakened in the 13th inning of a sensational battle with the Browns, but the Yankees saved three runs to win from Chicago, 3-6.

Braves Beaten by Reds

Johnny Couch held Boston to a hit, the first of which came in the eighth and Cincinnati shut out the Braves, 2 to 0, in the only National League game played.

LOWELL BOY WITH YALE VARSITY CREDIT

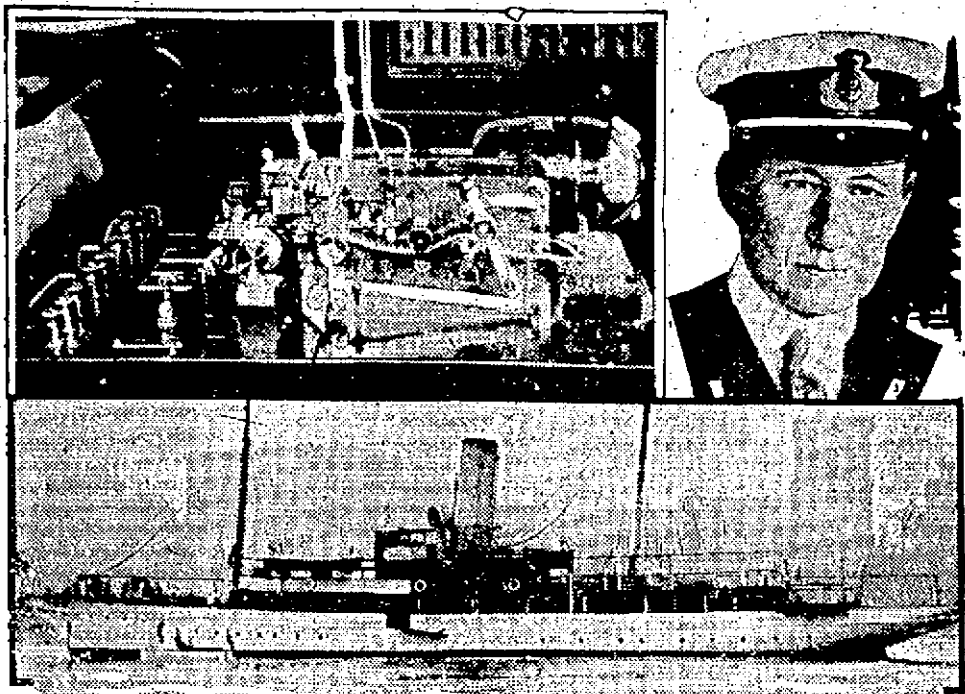

A former Lowell boy, Harvard Bigelow, has made good in college athletics as it has been decided that he will now be a member of the Yale varsity crew in its annual race with Harvard on Friday. The young oar worker has way up from the freshmen crew to a place in the varsity position, which is sought for by hundreds of Yale men. He is the son of Rev. B. Father of Radio Comes to United States To Solve Wireless Problems

MARCONI, HIS FLOATING LABORATORY AND THE RADIO RECORDING MACHINE WHICH REGISTERS RADIOGRAMS ON A TAPE, SIMILAR TO A STOCK TICKER

TO THE RADIO AMATEUR
By SEN. GUGLIELMO MARCONI
Father of Wireless
NEW YORK, June 21.—Greetings!
From one amateur to another.
I started as one. And that's what I have always considered myself since. I never want to be called a university professor, or a doctor. I simply want to be an amateur. At all times the amateurs can count on my support and the benefit of my experimenting.
(Copyright, 1922, by The Lowell Sun)

He will get it from personal observation of the accomplishments and problems of the thousands of amateurs whose little antennae dot the landscape of the country and the powerful stations which broadcast programs night and day. Their problems he is endeavoring to solve.
"America," says Marconi, "leads the world in the development of the radio telephone and the methods of broadcasting."
"Europe is far behind. But it is beginning to pick up."
"One London daily has begun publishing leading articles on radio two or three times a week. In the house of commons there is a movement under way to license certain stations for broadcasting."
"At our Chelmsford works we are building 50,000 receiving sets. The interest is growing throughout all Europe."
"But nowhere is it so keen as here."

Marconi received me in his study aboard his yacht Elettra, a floating radio laboratory. He was most cordial. I had just seen him in London. "I'm taking this merely as a pleasure trip—with a little experimenting on the side," he explained.
Among these experiments have been some of the most important ever undertaken to eliminate the great bugaboo of radio—static, which interferes with reception of wireless.
"Some reports have said that we have succeeded in eliminating that what is known as static," the senator went on. "But that has not yet been done."
"Certainly great advances have been made in the reduction of this form of disturbance, but it has not yet been eliminated—at present."
"I can only hope that it will be eventually. I do not know."
"But we have been doing work on wave lengths of one or two meters. There is no static on these lengths and the waves may be reflected and directed by mirrors in the same way as light is reflected and directed."

Waves as short as these have never been used commercially. A little while ago they were totally unexplored. And now Marconi is able to use them for radio transmission over distances as great as 100 miles!

Privacy For Messages

Utilization of his method of reflecting waves toward one point will come closer to bringing about secrecy in the transmission of radio messages than any present means.

Attempts have been made many times toward the focusing of electric waves. They never succeeded because the waves were too long. But Marconi with his short wave of one or two meters may accomplish the miracle.

Marconi's laboratory aboard the Elettra is a veritable wonderland. Radio messages are received automatically. No operator need listen in. The signals are registered on a strip of tape by a high speed recorder attached to the receiving set.

The recorder picked up a bit of the tape. It was a perfect record of a message from the high power station at Carnarvon, Wales, recorded while the yacht lay at anchor in the North river, New York.

It was just one of many machines on which Marconi is experimenting with the hope of eventually: Reducing static interference. Developing directional transmission which would insure secrecy. And making the range and speed of radio transmission greater.

Rival Forces Makes Ether

A Hindrance to Radio

BY N. E. A. SERVICE

NEW YORK, June 21.—Ether is a hindrance to radio!

That, coming from no less eminent an electrical engineer than Dr. H. W. Nichols of New York, furnishes another bolt against the common belief that the ether furnishes the medium of radio transmission.

The first bolt against this notion—which heretofore had been accepted by scientists—came only recently from Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, famous electrical wizard. Dr. Steinmetz declared it was not the ether, but extremely fast light waves that made radio telephony possible.

To this statement that the ether has nothing to do with radio, Dr. Nichols adds the shot that it actually is a hindrance to the development of the new science.

Must Be Subdued

In fact, says Dr. Nichols, counter activities in the ether must be overcome before wireless communication can be improved.

FEARED DAMAGE TO APPARATUS

The lightning caused by the storm last Sunday threw a scare into the radio fans, who feared that serious damage would be done to their apparatus. According to Mr. Leo McGrath of Motion street, a lightning switch would seem to be adequate protection against electrical storms, but even this is not immune from powerful flashes. The best precaution along this line is an approved lightning protector, especially constructed for the purpose and made in conformity with the requirements of the underwriters.

Mr. McGrath is at present working on an experiment which, if successful, will prove economical to those fans who at present employ a dry cell battery to light filaments.

RADIO PRIMER
Volt Meter—An instrument used to measure the amount of current passing through a circuit. This is measured in volts. The ordinary electric lighting circuit carries about 110 to 115 volts of current.

Some idea of these rival forces of the ether may be gained from the fact that every moving electron in the universe is a source of electrical interference. There are the electrons which fill the atmosphere to a height of 40 or 50 miles with charged particles in water vapor or in clouds. The discharge of these particles—lightning—causes a considerable electro-magnetic effect on receiving antennae.

Besides this interference, explains Dr. Nichols, there are the high speed electrons of the ether projecting from the sun, which cause static disturbance. This explains to some extent the differences between ranges of radio communication by day and at night.

Methods Tried
Since the early days of radio, engineers have tried to reduce these etheral disturbances, or "static." Still, static remains.

However, Dr. Nichols says, by sharper tuning, that part of a static disturbance which is excluded which is resolvable into frequencies differing from the frequency of the signals.

Also the power radiated from the sending station may be increased. This may be done slightly by using antennae which are directive in their action.

But since it is necessary to use large antennae as compared with the wave length, to attain directivity, this would mean aerials many miles in length for long distance communication.

GRADUATION EXERCISES AT POLISH SCHOOL

The second annual graduation of St. Stanislaus Polish school, High street, in charge of the Felician sisters, was held yesterday afternoon. A class of 23 pupils received diplomas, the presentation being made by the pastor, Rev. S. Oganowski.

The valedictory was delivered by Mary Przybyla, and after a pleasant entertainment and an address by the pastor, diplomas were awarded to the following: F. Francis, S. Markiewicz, J. Pater, J. Pleske, J. Przybyla, S. Kaznoch, S. Skoczulek, M. Gacek, M. Dusen, M. Puzakowski, A. Kotarba, J. Kosik, M. Krygowski, M. Kurek, J. Pilch, H. Ostizio, J. Oczkowska, M. Przybyla, J. Sokolowska, B. Szymaszek, C. Walos, A. Wilkos and B. Swiderska.

The various prizes and penmanship awards were made privately in the class rooms this afternoon.

It was considered very fortunate to carry an umbrella when they were first introduced into the United States in the latter part of the 18th century.

ROTARIANS HEAR JOHN N. COLE State Commissioner of Public Works Favors Better Transportation System

Is Opposed to the Merrimack River and St. Lawrence River Waterway Projects

Speaking before the Lowell Rotary club at its weekly meeting yesterday, Hon. John N. Cole, state commissioner of public works, recorded himself as favoring the building up of the best transportation system possible as a solution of the difficulties facing the manufacturers and producers of New England today. In the course of his talk, Commissioner Cole expressed his opposition to the Merrimack river and Great Lakes-St. Lawrence river waterway projects, particularly the latter, which he foresees as a menace to New England, calculated to leave this section of the country as a small, isolated sector.

Commissioner Cole was introduced by Louis E. Studley, and began by paying personal tribute to Frank L. Weaver, whom he characterized as his dearest friend and earliest political mentor. He expressed the hope that Mr. Weaver and men of similar type will be spared to his task.

The speaker announced that his talk would be on that part of his work which has to do with transportation in all its various aspects. He regretted, he said, that he must disagree with his Lowell friends relative to the dredging of the Merrimack river, believing the project impracticable.

Tracing the transportation of New England from its origin to modern times, he began with the first means of commerce, transportation used: three birch bark canoes which traveled from Weymouth up the old North river into the interior, ten years after the landing of the Pilgrims. It followed the slow development of transportation up to the present day of steam railroads and electric railways.

In connection with the railroad system, Commissioner Cole said that if the threatened strike should come, we shall learn something; that transportation is the backbone of industry, probably one of the most important factors in the present time.

At the present time, the factories can dispose of but two-thirds of their products at home; one-third must get away somehow to Europe or to the far ends of the earth. Otherwise we cannot have prosperity. If one part of the country were to have all the facilities, other parts would go begging according to the speaker. We find our way out of begging through the balance furnished by transportation. However, the marketing does not stop with the delivery of goods at the dock; it only begins there.

Some problems of the highway industry are very interesting, the commissioner stated. At the present time Massachusetts is supposed to be building most of its highways from the revenue of motor vehicles and operators. Instead of that, this revenue is paid by $3000 last year, this year $30,000. This is not enough to continue the commonwealth's pay-as-you-go policy. Three millions of dollars more must be collected this year or we will find ourselves tied up in such a way that neither a little or a big community will be able to keep up with the demand for better roads. As an example of the tremendous cost to the state, Commissioner Cole quoted figures to the effect that about 200 bridges in the state, 181 on the B. & N. R. R. alone, must be rebuilt or widened if we are to apply the proper standards. All these problems, combined mean an expenditure of $100,000,000 in the next ten years, and someone must pay.

Proceeding to a discussion of the waterway projects, the speaker said that when the dredging of the Merrimack was first discussed a 12-foot draft would have been sufficient for today, such a channel would be sufficient for the transportation of only about two-thirds of the shipments. He wondered if it would not be more saving to have goods lightered from deep water to Lowell and other cities. With one-third of the total production of the section to be transported, we would have the service of the river but eight or nine months in the year. It is necessary to keep a connection between the ports and the mill yards, and it is impossible to ignore the enormous cost of making such a connection. The commissioner said that the terminal service cost for the mills alone would exceed the cost of construction of the channel, and even then it would be of use only from eight to nine months in twelve.

Relative to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence project, Commissioner Cole said that this means to New England that the time has come when the shoe, woolen and cotton industries are moving steadily toward the sources of supply, and the people in New England must decide whether or not they should take care of themselves and do something to counteract the movement. He said there is more water power in Maine under our own control than could be used, if we were to go about it. Waterway transportation of the right sort, for the pouring of raw material into the ports is the main thing. The highest stabilizing force at the present time is the great supplies of raw material lying on the Boston wharves. The commissioner thinks it is high time to call these things to mind, for unless New England wakes to the menace of the new Great Lakes-St. Lawrence proposition, it will be cut off and left in a little corner by itself.

Commissioner Cole said that his attitude is based upon building up in New England for the benefit of the whole United States, the best transportation system possible. When he works at his task of working out various transportation problems, he likes to think that everything of importance in transportation or industry started here, and has spread west and south. As we take care of New England, as the United States of the United States, and if we continue with the work we will provide the whole world with the same dominating spirit, because it is the New England spirit, wherever it goes.

FORD'S OFFER ATTACKED Republicans of House Military Committee Oppose Muscle Shoals Proposal

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Henry Ford's offer to purchase and lease the government's power and nitrate projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was attacked today in a report to the house prepared by Representative Kearns, republican, Ohio, and signed by Representatives Morin, Pennsylvania, Parker, New Jersey, Crowther, New York, Frothingham, Massachusetts, and Ransley, Pennsylvania, all republican members of the house military committee.

The report declared dissatisfaction with opinions already presented to the house by other members of the committee, and announced that the signers were determined to tell "the people" the "real facts about Muscle Shoals and the so-called Ford offer."

Representative Kearns said, "Representatives Parker and Frothingham signed the report although they previously had endorsed another minority opinion. He expected two other committee members would sign later, he said, making a total of eight republican signatures on the report."

Declaring the belief that "the country title understands what it is that Mr. Ford is offering to do, or what, if anything, he is offering for this great plant," the signatories first denounced what they describe as "one of the most malicious propagandas that this nation has witnessed for many a day."

Many of the Ford advocates, the report says, are honest and conscientious but have been misled as to the facts. In this connection, it points to the provision by which the signatories would sell the plant to the farmer, only charging for himself a profit of 5 per cent. on the production. No one has suggested that he should make fertilizers and sell them cheaply or what means he would employ. The bold claim is made, and Congress and the country must take the statement as absolute truth or be forever contented with this crowd of wicked propagandists."

The properties for which Mr. Ford offers the government $5,000,000, the report says already have cost the government $35,487,300.

OUT OUR WAY

SEC. WEEKS PLEASED Hails as Good Sign the Increasing Number of Military Schools in U. S.

LEXINGTON, Va., June 20.—Secretary Weeks, speaking here today to the graduating class at the Virginia Military Institute, hailed as a good sign the increasing number of military schools in the country. The increase, he said, must be a "great satisfaction to those believing in adequate military preparedness."

"I do not mean preparation for war," the secretary continued. "An education at such a school does not create a passion for war. In fact, my experience has been that those who know most about war are the ones most desirous of preventing it. We cannot be unprepared in the face, however, that in order to survive, a nation must possess a military force sufficient to defend it from the enemy without and within, to make secure its sovereignty, and secure enforcement of its laws."

"The training given in the standard military schools of our country is a great asset to the young man about to undertake a career and the responsibilities of citizenship. It gives him poise, a disciplined mind and body, a decisiveness of action, a knowledge of the advantages of clean thinking and living, and a high sense of honor."

"I appeal to you, therefore, whatever may be your vocation after leaving this institution, to devote some part of your time to the affairs of your country. It is not necessary for you to hold public office, but it is essential that you give to your country the benefit of the training and education you have received here. Resist all attempts to turn from the representative form of government created by the constitution and take an active interest in the affairs of your community to the extent of seeing that only wise, trustworthy and courageous men are elected to public office."

MISS MORRIS DEAN OF WOMEN'S COLLEGE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 20.—Miss Margaret Shove Morris, Ph.D., now associate professor of history at Mount Holyoke college, has been appointed dean of the women's college in Brown university. She succeeds Dean Lida Shaw King, who retires after 17 years. She will also become associate professor of history in the latter institution. Miss Morris was graduated fromoucher college, Baltimore, with the degree of A. B. in 1901. She took her Ph.D. at Bryn Mawr college in 1911. She has been teaching history at Mount Holyoke since 1903, except for two years when she was in war work overseas.

BECKENHAM, June 20.—(By the Associated Press).—India has won the right to enter the second round of the Davis cup lawn tennis contest by defeating Rumania. The victory was clinched by the defeat of Nicholas Mitsu of Rumania by A. H. Fyze of the Indian team today; the Indian winning 4-5, 6-1, 8-1, 7-6.

CHAUDIERE RIVER OVERFLOWS BANKS

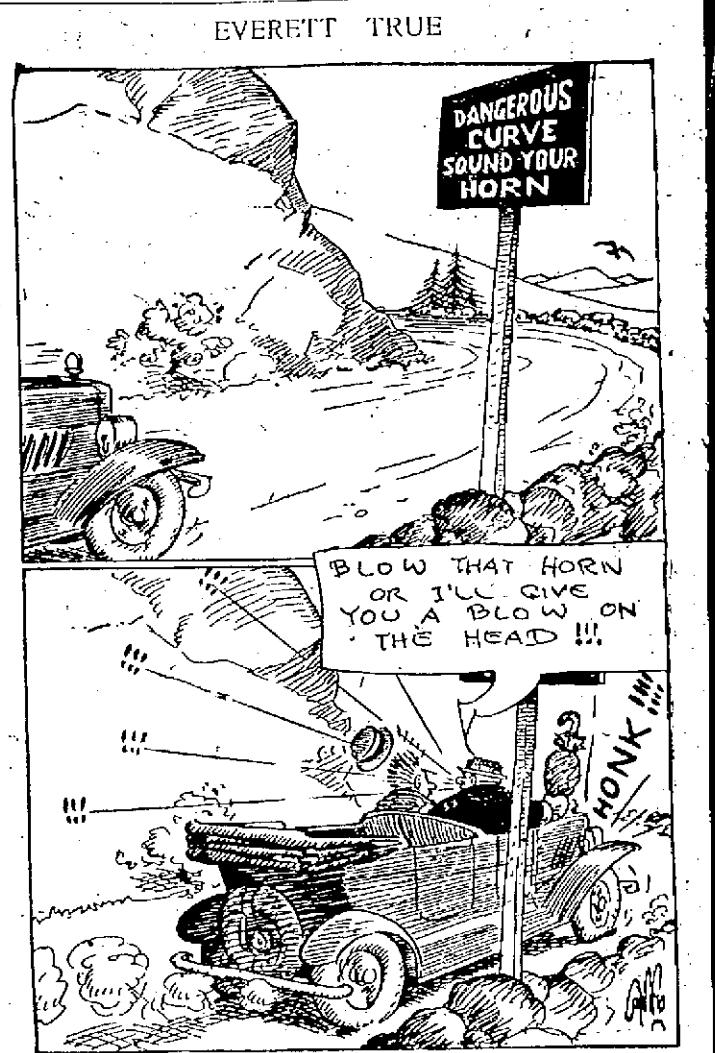

SHERBROOKE, Que., June 20.—Flooded by the continuous heavy rains of the last few days, the Chaudiere river has overflowed its banks flooding most of the Chaudiere valley; the inhabitants of the villages of St. Mary, Beauceville and St. Joseph were forced to escape in boats to higher ground when the waters inundated their homes. Travelers to Valley Junction were met at the railroad station in boats and rowed to the hotel as many of the streets are flooded.

SIX OCTOGENARIANS AT COMMENCEMENT

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., June 20.—Among the hundreds of alumni who were at the 90th commencement of Wesleyan university and who were departing for home today, was a sextet of octogenarians who came from long distances to renew their recollections of undergraduate days. Five of these men traveled an aggregate of 20,000 miles as a minimum to be at commencement.

To Return Property Seized During War

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Legislation is being prepared with President Harding's sanction which will return to approximately 30,000 Germans and Austrians property taken over during the war by the alien property custodian in amounts of $10,000 or less, it was announced today at the White House.

Declares Kilbane Has Forfeited Title

NEW YORK, June 20.—The New York state boxing commission today ruled that Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, had vacated his title of world's featherweight champion by failing to accept the challenge of Johnny Dundee of New York. Kilbane no longer will be recognized in New York state as the champion.

Approves Delay of Ship Subsidy Bill

WASHINGTON, June 20.—President Harding has given "informal sanction" to republican house leaders for postponement of ship subsidy consideration for approximately one month, it was said today at the White House.

To Cut Second Class Postal Rates

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The administration has under consideration a decrease in second class postal rates, it was said today at the White House. Considerable discussion was given to the subject at today's cabinet meeting and President Harding and Postmaster General Work are inclined to believe that at least a part of the increase in the second class rates made during the war, should now be removed.

CATHOLIC AUTO VAN COMING SUNDAY
Catholic Truth Auto Van coming to Lowell next Sunday afternoon, June 25. The speakers, Mrs. Martha Moore Avery and Mr. David Goldstein, will speak to the public in front of city hall. A local committee of men and women will look after the arrangements for the meeting.

Speaking of the auto van and the work of Miss Avery and Mr. Goldstein, the Boston Pilot says:

"Boston's lay apostolate to the man in the street is about to begin its fifth annual season of outdoor meetings, the remarkable triumph of the Catholic Truth guild and its corps of speakers will again be seen and heard throughout the archdiocese of Boston."

"Mrs. Martha Moore Avery, the president of the guild, an orator of national fame, and David Goldstein, secretary, who has just returned from an extended lecture tour through the states where the Klu Klux Klan organizations are most active, will be the principal speakers. Mr. William E. Kerriah, a convert to the faith, who

PRETTY JUNE WEDDING RIVER IS STILL RISING

Lowell Girl Weds Peabody Merrimack is Running More Young Man—Ceremony Than Seven Feet Over at St. Patrick's Church Pawlucket Dam

One of the prettiest of June weddings took place this morning at St. Patrick's church at 9:30 o'clock, when Miss Della M. Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Conley, 151 Branch st., became the bride of Mr. Patrick L. Butler of Peabody.

The ceremony took place at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. Michael Butler of Everett, a brother of the bridegroom. Rev. Fr. Butler was assisted by Rev. William J. Conley of Everett, a brother of the bride, and Rev. Conrad J. Quirkback of Newton, an acolyte. Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. Patrick's church was master of ceremonies.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Conley. The bride was given away by her brother, John E. Conley. She was attended by Miss Mary L. Scannell as bridesmaid, and Mr. Bartholomew J. Roman was best man. Miss Helen Marr acted as flower girl.

The bride was attired in rose point lace over Duchess satin, with a train, and wore a veil of Duchess lace caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids. The bridesmaid wore a gown of sunset gold grade of London tulle, trimmed with gold thread lace and garlands of French flowers, with a hat to match.

Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. David J. Murphy of Dorchester, Rev. Chas. D. McGuinness of Peabody, Rev. Thos. F. Markham, D.D., of Haverhill; Rev. W. Geo. Mullin of Manchester-by-the-Sea, formerly of St. Peter's, this city; Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., of St. Patrick's; Rev. Joseph A. Curtin of Quincy; Rev. Andrew P. O'Brien of St. Margaret's; Rev. William McGarr of South Boston and Rev. Denis A. O'Brien of Cambridge.

As the bridal procession entered the church Organist Michael J. Johnson played "Ave Maria" by Franz Schubert. At the offertory, Mrs. James A. Murphy sang "Ave Maria" with piano obligato by Miss Irene Lawler. At communion Danes' "Salve Regina" was rendered by Miss Nellie Lynch. As the party left the church the organist repeated the wedding march.

The ushers at the church were Geo. L. Conley, a brother of the bride, and Edward B. Conley, both of Lowell, and John L. McManus, John J. Ryan, John J. Gallagher, and David A. Barry of Peabody. A large number of guests from Peabody were present, among them Mayor William A. Shea.

At the conclusion of the mass, the party returned to the home of the bride's mother, where a delicious wedding breakfast was served. Late this afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Butler left for a tour of the Adirondacks, and will be at home to their friends after August 1 at 55 Franklin street, Peabody.

Lowell Young Men Graduate From Boston College

GEORGE H. KEEFE

WALTER J. MARKHAM

WILLIAM E. ROWLANDSON

PAUL R. FOISY

Four Lowell young men were graduated from Boston college and received their degrees at commencement exercises today. They are Paul R. Foisy, Walter J. Markham, George H. Keefe and William E. Rowlandson. The first three received the degree of Bachelor of Arts and the other the degree of Bachelor of Science.

Paul R. Foisy was graduated from the Greenhidge school in 1914 and Lowell high school in 1918. During his four years he was a member of the college glee club and various senior societies. He specialized in law and expects to enter law school in the fall.

Mr. Foisy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Foisy of 327 Hildreth street. Walter J. Markham comes from the Edson school, class of 1914, and Lowell high school, class of 1918. During his freshman year he was a member of the varsity track team but gave up his other years entirely to his studies. He belonged to the Marquette and Fulton debating societies, the junior and senior societies of the college. Mr. Markham specialized in pedagogy and expects to teach school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Markham of 11 Floyd street.

George H. Keefe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Keefe of 55 Myrtle street, and was graduated from the Varnum school, class of 1914, and Lowell high school, class of 1918. Mr. Keefe was a member of the college glee club for four years and in his senior year was manager of the musical clubs. Besides maintaining a high scholastic record he was an editor of the Heights, the college weekly, and an editor of the Sub-Terranean, the senior year book. Mr. Keefe specialized in journalism and expects to enter newspaper work.

William E. Rowlandson received the degree of Bachelor of Science as he has specialized in chemistry. He came from the Moody school in 1914 and Lowell high school in 1918. He was a member of the varsity track team for four years and scored many points in the various meets. Mr. Rowlandson was a member of the local high school track team and continued his work in college for four years. His plans for the future are undecided as yet but he leans toward the chemical dye field. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Rowlandson of 1134 Parkview avenue.

Union Headquarters Disappointed Over Volume of Returns in Nation-Wide Referendum of R.R. Workers

OVER 19,000 MEN HERE LIABLE TO MILITIA ENROLMENT

Assessors Take Figures From 1922 Returns—List by Wards and Precincts Submitted to the City Clerks—Total, Smallest in Precinct Two of Ward Five

The city of Lowell has 19,124 men between the ages of 18 and 44 years inclusive, who are liable to militia enrollment, according to figures taken from the 1922 returns by the board of assessors. The number of such men, divided by wards and precincts, was submitted today to the city clerk, who in turn will report the totals to the state adjutant general.

Chapter 23 of the general laws makes it obligatory upon the assessors to submit such a list each year, although in the past it was necessary that the names and addresses of all eligibles be reported. The laws have been amended so that this year and in the future just the total number need be sent in.

Marconi's Device Makes Possible Lighthouse Beams Flashing 100 Miles

Declares Short Wave Reflector Will Detect Ships in Fog—Wide Possibilities

NEW YORK, June 21.—Senator Guglielmo Marconi, wonder man of wireless, last night announced the invention of what might be termed a radio searchlight by means of which radio waves, which can be reflected like light waves, may be sent in a given direction in a beam, instead of being scattered in all points of the compass. The famous Italian said he believed this invention could be utilized in such a manner as to rid the sea of some of its terrors, for a revolving reflector, the transmitter would substitute a radio lighthouse, capable of flashing beams across nearly a hundred miles. Addressing a joint meeting of the Institute of Radio Engineers and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers on his latest discoveries, the

LEGISLATORS INDISCREET

Grand Jury Condemns Practices Indulged in by Some Members of General Court

Action at Time of Passage of Railway Legislation Afforded Basis for Suspicion

Evidence, However, Not Sufficient to Call for Indictments

BOSTON, June 21.—The Suffolk county grand jury reported today to district Attorney O'Brien that its investigation of charges of corruption and graft among public officials in connection with the passage of street railway legislation in 1918, indicated that indiscreet practices were indulged in by members of the general court, but that the evidence submitted did not call for indictments against any person or persons.

"While no evidence is disclosed," and the report, "in the present grand jury inquiry upon which the jurors find in good conscience base an indictment against any person or persons the jurors do, however, take this occasion to call public attention to the charges of corruption and graft among public officials in connection with the passage of street railway legislation in 1918, indicated that indiscreet practices were indulged in by members of the general court, but that the evidence submitted did not call for indictments against any person or persons."

"We refer most particularly to loans made to members of the legislature by the Fidelity Trust Co. and to investments made by legislators in street railway stocks at a time so closely related to the passage of the street railway legislation in question as to afford a basis for reasonable suspicion on the public mind."

LOWELL BOY ORATOR AT H. C.

WORCESTER, June 21.—Holy Cross college commencement today was featured by the award of the bachelor of arts degree to 115 members of the graduating class and the degree of bachelor of philosophy to four. The exercises were attended by Governor Manning H. Cox and many Catholic arch dignitaries: John F. Keating of Brooklyn, N. Y., was valedictorian, Thomas G. Gunning of Fall River, salutatorian, Albert L. Bourgeois of Lowell and Francis A. Drumm of East operell, orators.

STORY OF HAIR PULLING MATCH

Two Women Stage Free-for-All on Piazza of Dutton Street Home

One Showered With Ashes and Another Ducked in Tub of Water

The story of a good old-fashioned hair-pulling contest, of how one woman was showered with ashes and how the other was pushed into a tub of soapy water and more or less mauled, was unwound before Judge Thomas J. Enright in district court this morning. As a result of the tale Mrs. Stavroula Bazikas of Dutton street was placed in the care of the probation officer for six months and told to keep the peace after she had been found guilty of assault and battery upon Mrs. Despina Stavrapoulas, a fellow tenant.

The free-for-all was staged on the piazza of the complainant and terminated abruptly when neighbors, called to the scene by the fracas, separated the militant ones, extracted the complainant from the tub and chased the other woman from the piazza with a veritable shower of ashes and ash cans.

According to Mrs. Stavrapoulas, who was busily engaged at her household duties on the morning of June 15 when her neighbor went down stairs and threw a dustpan full of waste in her general direction. Words followed and Mrs. Bazikas started up the stairs with the admonition that she would show which of them was the bravest.

At this point the complainant said

HIPPOPOTAMUS ON WAY TO BOSTON

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—Sultan Fatmah III, aged four years, and weighing somewhere around a ton, grunted a farewell at the Philadelphia Zoological Garden today and left for Boston on a specially built motor truck.

Sultan is a hippopotamus born in the local zoo and has the distinction of being one of the few of his kind to live long after birth in captivity. He was purchased with $5000 in pennies and other small coins contributed by the school children of Boston. Philadelphia's hippopotami quarters were a bit cramped with the arrival of another baby hippo last winter.

The hippo special plans to stop at the Bronx Zoo in New York city tonight, and tomorrow night at Auburn-dale, Mass. It is due in Boston Friday.

Local Mill Agent Says City Cannot Progress Under Present Government

"Lowell cannot progress with the sort of government we have at the present time," was the assertion of Agent William A. Mitchell of the Massachusetts mill at the meeting of the Lowell Ad club held today in the quarters of the Girls' City club. Mr. Mitchell went on to say that the taxes paid by the mills in this city are enormous compared with the taxes in the south, and that is the great burden of the mill agent. A better government,

Sun Gets Official Statement From Commissioner Henry F. Long

Lowell Much Better Off Than Many Other Cities and Towns

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, June 21.—In a statement given to The Sun today, Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long answers officially the many queries that have been made by Lowell citizens with reference to the city's share of the state tax for 1922.

The announced reduction of $2,000,000, or one-seventh, in the total state tax assessed this year had been expected by citizens generally to forestall a proportionate reduction in the city's part of the tax, but investigation has shown that the tax assessed upon the city exceeds by nearly $25,000 the expected figure.

Lowell, however, is far better off than many other cities and towns, in certain of which, it appears, the assessment for this year is actually greater than the amount demanded

FLAYS ATTACKS ON CARDINAL

Irish Catholic Hierarchy Condemns Action of Ulster Constabulary

Protests Barbarities Heaped Upon Beloved Head of the Irish Church

Declares British Government Now Backing Its "Turkey in Ireland"

DUBLIN, June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Irish Catholic hierarchy at Maynooth has condemned the action of the Ulster constabulary in holding up Cardinal Logue on three occasions. The bishops declare they deem it their duty to "lay before the Holy Father and the civilized world a faint outline of the barbarities heaped upon the beloved head of the Irish church."

The hierarchy declares that the deadly effect of partition has been to ruin Ireland and that the British government is now backing its "Turkey in Ireland."

TO SEIZE VESSELS WITH BARS OPEN

NEW YORK, June 21.—Whether action is to be taken by local prohibition officials against steamers entering this port which had their bars open just before reaching the three-mile limit, probably will be determined when Roy A. Haynes visits New York.

It is generally understood that the attitude of local prohibition officials is that under the law such vessels may be seized and their liquor stocks confiscated.

Local dry officials apparently believe that their instructions cannot be other than to take action against the steamers in accordance with the law as interpreted by them.

On the eve of his departure for Liverpool on the British steamship Seydlitz, William E. (Boss) Johnson gave out a statement in which he attacked the policy of the United States shipping board in permitting liquor to be sold aboard its boats and said people should refuse to ride on them.

NEW BADGES FOR BOSTON POLICE

BOSTON, June 21.—A new badge for the Boston police department has been selected by Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson. The badge, strikingly different from the old, is polygonal in shape and in the form of a shield. Extending across the top of it is a band and around, taken from the seal of the state of Massachusetts, in the center is the seal of the city of Boston.

The change is being made because of the large number of old badges in possession of persons other than the police, as a result of the police strike.

PRESIDENCY FOR HOLLAND

THE HAGUE, June 21. (By the Associated Press).—Holland was assigned the presidency of the central commission of the conference on Russian affairs here when the selection of the heads of this commission and the three sub-commissions of the conference was made today. Belgium was given the vice-presidency of the central body, while representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy respectively, head the three sub-commissions.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER MEETING

The Molly Varnum chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held its closing meeting of the season yesterday afternoon in the Spalding House. The anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill, which occurred on June 17 was observed with fitting exercises. Among these present were descendants of those men who fought at Bunker Hill and who were with Washington at Valley Forge.

Mrs. B. J. Maloney read an address given by Mrs. George Maynard Miner, president general of the D. A. R., given at the opening of the 21st Continental congress of the organization in Washington on April 17 of this year. The following ladies were on the committee: Mrs. Charles P. Howe, Miss Elizabeth C. Coburn, Mrs. B. J. Maloney, Miss Young, Mrs. John K. Whitler, Mrs. Lewis A. Putnam, Miss Nellie P. Horner and Miss Brenda Pettigell.

A giant crawfish, weighing 80 pounds and measuring more than three feet in length, was captured recently off the Florida coast.

To Eliminate Military Training

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 21.—A proposal to eliminate military training from Minneapolis high schools was carried by a vote of 29,672 to 23,124 at the primaries according to complete unofficial figures. Final decision rests with the board of education and the vote was taken to get an expression of public opinion.

Ice House at Brockton in Ruins

BROCKTON, June 21.—An ice house of the Boston Ice Co., containing 3000 tons of ice was in ruins today, two other ice houses were damaged, the bridge on the East Bridgewater road was under water and several acres of meadowland were inundated as the result of the breaking of the dam at Cleveland's Pond. The ice house collapsed when ice on the ground floor was melted by the rising water. The loss to the ice company was estimated at $10,000.

Milk Producers to Boost Price

BOSTON, June 21.—The New England Milk Producers' association announced today an increase in the price of milk to dealers effective July 1. At present the wholesale price of milk in Boston is six cents a quart. The new price has not been announced. The present retail price ranges from 12 to 13 cents a quart. Milk dealers said the retail price would be raised when the farmers make their increase.

Reduction in Operating Deficit

TORONTO, June 21.—A marked reduction in the operating deficit of the Canadian National Railways during 1921 was shown in the annual report, the first covering the system as a whole. The total deficit was $16,082,901 compared with $30,842,070 the year before and with slightly over 20,000,000 in 1919. The directors report that the condition of the system has been steadily improved.

Film With Smooth Continuity Is Not Always Entertaining

PAT O'MALLEY AND PAULINE STARKER IN "MY WILD IRISH ROSE"

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, June 21.—Many translations of the written story into the celluloid medium suffer in the process. When the story is derived from more than one source a film batch usually ensues.

"My Wild Irish Rose" for that reason seems to be an exceptional photoplay. It takes its theme from Chauncey Olcott's song of that name and from "The Shaughraun." Don Boucicault's play and contains a character interpolation of the director's own device.

The fact that no character of the play assumes a predominating place in the play marks the picture as a model of continuity writing.

The story deals with one little phase of the disturbances in County Sligo that marked the struggle for Irish independence years ago and which had their counterpart in more recent days. Three romances are interwoven in the story. The principals are Pat O'Malley, Helen Howard, Maude Emory, Pauline Starke, Edward Cecil and Henry Hebert.

While the handling of these players so that none proves more or less interesting than the others may be a directorial achievement, it robs the picture of naturalism. Six people in love would hardly express or repress their emotions in the same degree. That's monotonous. Variety is the spice of love as well as of life.

"The character interpolation in 'My Wild Irish Rose' is to afford opportunity for the display of Mickey Daniels' talents and freckles. Mickey first burst into rascal glory in the version of 'The Little Minister,' starring Alice Calhoun. He is the only boy actor who threatens the vast popularity of Jackie Coogan.

However, Mickey is a great actor because he is just himself before the camera. He probably will realize some day that he is an actor and that will end his appeal.

On the other hand, Jackie Coogan is a prodigious child who seems to have mastered the art of mimicry. He probably will be still a great actor when Mickey will be using butter milk on his face so his best girl won't giggle at the freckles.

Larry Semon's current comedy, "Tail of Kings," is just like any other Semon comedy except that some of his support wear different clothes. Semon will take rank with Chaplin, Lloyd, Kanton and Hamilton when he realizes that an idea does more than hard work to make a comedy.

Revels of old photoplays continue to flood the market.

"The Delicious Little Devil," starring Mae Murray, is one of the latest. The best reason for its revival at this time is that Rudolph Valentino appears in the support and Rudolph Valentino makes 'em stand in line at the box office.

The best of the revivals is one made 12 years ago. It is called "Going Straight" and stars King Baggot, "supported" by Mary Pickford. Presented seriously, it makes an effective comedy and affords a fine study in the great advances made in a new art.

The first movie made in Russia to be sent to the United States for exhibition is "Thousand and One Nights." It was directed and acted entirely by Russians. Nathalie Kovanka is the star. J. E. Robbins is editing and titling the film for exhibition. The soviet government is encouraging the production of photoplays in Moscow, especially of propaganda films to be sent to Germany and Austria.

CHICAGOGRAMS
Von Stroheim's next picture will be called "New Year's Eve."

Harold Lloyd's next comedy will be completed about July 1.

Joy Stewart will play the lead in "The Radio King."

A report from Hollywood states Cecil DeMille is spending $150,000 a day for "winning" for "Manslaughter." They depict the splendor of Rome.

Gloria Joyl How's that for a movie queen's name? That's what they call the star of a new series of comedies.

She used to do child parts in the movies and more recently appeared four years in vaudeville.

"Enter Madame" is Clara Kimball Young's next. She recently completed "The Hands of Naro."

George Fawcett plays the judge in "Manslaughter."

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MARION RYAN

Last night in Kilton hall, a pleasing recital was given by the pupils of Marion M. Ryan, with Mr. Andrew McCarthy, baritone, assisting. A large audience was present to enjoy the excellent program, and all voted the performance an unusual success and a credit to the careful tutoring of Miss Ryan.

The following took part: John H. Bechard, Paul L. Bechard, Mary E. Sullivan, Jack Garrahan, Helen E. Tompkins, Cynthia M. Dumas, Dana G. Dumas, W. Leo Cahill, Dorothy W. Knowles, Norbert E. Cahill, Joseph A. Cahill, Lillian M. Lane, Russell J. Leonard, Dorothy E. Shesley, Herbert H. McDonald, Leslie E. Treathan, Alice A. Smith, Gerald G. Noonan, Alice V. Heelon, William J. Barry, E. E. Saxon, Clemens A. Rowlandson, Catherine F. Noonan, Beryl Mills, Hugh E. Rowlandson, Alice V. Mahoney and Kathleen R. Murphy.

The ushers were George L. Conley, Frank J. Quinn and Harry J. Heelon.

The Lobes, a 3000-ton steamer, recently launched 6527 tons, making the journey occupied 25 days, without stopping the engines.

Invents Radio Searchlight

Inventor said of the proposed radio searchlight:
"By means of the revolving beam of electrical radiation, it is possible for ships, when within certain distance, to ascertain in thick weather, the bearing and position of the lighthouse. It seems to me that it should be possible to design apparatus by means of which a ship would radiate or project a divergency beam of the short wave rays in any desired direction, which rays, if coming across a metallic object, such as another steamer, would be reflected back to a receiver on the sending ship and thereby immediately reveal the presence and hearing of the other ship in fog or thick weather. One further greater advantage of such an arrangement would be that it would be able to give warning of the presence and bearing of ships, even should these ships be unprovided with any kind of radio." Marconi's radio searchlight bears little resemblance to the battleship searchlight. It is rather a special arrangement of wires or towers or masts. During his lecture Marconi exhibited pictures of reflectors, resembling the weird apparatus pictured in imaginary tales of the conquest of the world by Martians. Through the use of these reflectors at both ends, clear speech was exchanged during experiments over a distance of 99 miles, between London and Birmingham, he announced, establishing a record in long distance radio transmission and reception with short waves.

Marconi stated that the reflectors made it possible for the receiver to reproduce a radio telephone "voice" or speech about 20 times louder than is ordinarily possible. What is more, speech is transmitted practically without distortion and the transmitting aerial can be used both for sending and receiving at the same time.

"In these days of broadcasting, it may still prove to be very useful to have a practically new system which will be to a very large degree secret when compared to the usual kind of radio," he added.

"DEATH BRIDGE" CLOSED

New Bridge to Cost $50,000

to Be Built By B. & M.

at Reading

READING, June 21.—"Death Bridge," over the tracks of the Portland division of the B. & M. R. R. tracks, at Lowell street, has been closed.

At this point, where many automobile parties have dashed through the guard rail fence to the railroad tracks below, a new bridge is being built by the railroad at a cost of about $50,000, and the street is being straightened. A temporary structure for the accommodation of the electric cars is being erected. Automobile traffic going south is being diverted by a detour from Lowell street through West street and Summer avenue to South Main street. Going north automobile traffic is diverted at the junction of South Main street and Summer avenue through Summer avenue to West street and into Lowell street again.

1000 MAROONED HEAVY DAMAGE

Critical Stage in Lower Rio Grande Valley Flood Expected at Midnight

Red Cross Relief Underway With 16,000 Acres Inundated

Aviators Despatched to Drop Bags of Food to Marooned Persons

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 21. (By the Associated Press).—The critical stage in the lower Rio Grande valley flood, which has inundated nearly 16,000 acres in Starr, Hidalgo and Cameron counties, marooned nearly 1000 Mexicans in small border towns, and covered the roads leading west of Mercedes, is expected some time after midnight tonight.

From a stream normally 200 to 300 yards wide and 18 inches to six feet deep, the Rio Grande has become 80 feet deep at the flood crest and from three-quarters to a mile wide. The flood is the result of a cloudburst last Saturday.

Those familiar with the lower Rio Grande valley, much of which is barely above sea level, fear that the upper flood will spread far beyond all previous overflow marks. Greatest damage is feared to growing crops.

Red Cross relief for the flood district already is under way. Hundreds of Mexicans living in Eagle Pass lowlands have lost all belongings, while at Piedras Negras, across the river the food situation is admittedly serious. Three aviators were despatched from Kelley Field, San Antonio, yesterday to the lower Rio Grande valley for food relief work. Their instructions are to work from Camp McAllen and drop bags of food to marooned farmers.

No figures are available on loss of life in the flood. It is believed many Mexicans living in the low lands were caught and swept away. One Mexican, after riding down stream nearly 100 miles on a roof, swam ashore at Laredo yesterday.

Many Death Reports MEXICO CITY, June 21.—San Salvador, capital of the Republic of Salvador, was visited by another heavy storm and flood on Monday; a considerable portion of the city being inundated, with many deaths and much property loss, according to wireless advices received via Salina Cruz.

10,000 Homeless SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 1.—Ten thousand persons have been made homeless by devastating floods which inundated the suburban districts of Sofia following rains Monday and Tuesday. No loss of life has been reported. There was much damage to livestock.

OAKLAND GETS GRAND SWEEPSTAKES CUP

The Grand Sweepstakes cup in Los Angeles—Yosemite Economy contest, the most prized trophy in this nationally known yearly event, has been awarded to the Oakland 6-44, which scored the highest average in the grand total of points. Oakland not only won the Grand Sweepstakes cup for all five classes, but also the cup for the class in which it was entered.

Oakland's ton mileage for the 360 miles from Los Angeles to Camp Curry was 49.57.

Ton mileage is obtained by dividing the gross weight of the car in tons by 350, the distance traveled and dividing by the number of gallons of gasoline consumed. The gross weight includes the full weight of passengers, their baggage, as well as the weight of the car.

Sixteen cars made this run and finished in such a time and mud in a heavy rainstorm which fell over Yosemite valley that the officials decided to call the event off, but the drivers insisted on the run being finished. Mud and mountains combined to hinder the contest, which was primarily to show economical mileage and endurance under average touring aspect and with a full complement of passengers.

In winning the cup in its own class, Oakland competed with six-cylinder cars ranging in price from $1000 to $3000. There were six cars in this class.

In addition to its other records, the Oakland car made an average of 29.35 miles to a gallon of gasoline, which was the highest mileage of any six-cylinder car and was only exceeded by two other cars in the contest, both four cylinders, which averaged a fraction of a mile per gallon more than the Oakland.

Not a mechanical adjustment was made on the Oakland on this trip and examination showed no oil used during the run to Camp Curry and back, a distance of 720 miles. Only two pints of water were needed.

The awards were made at Camp Curry by Mrs. D. A. Curry, in the presence of a throng of more than 1000, including the officials of the A.A.A.

The Oakland making this run was a stock touring car which carries the special Oakland 15,000-mile written guarantee.

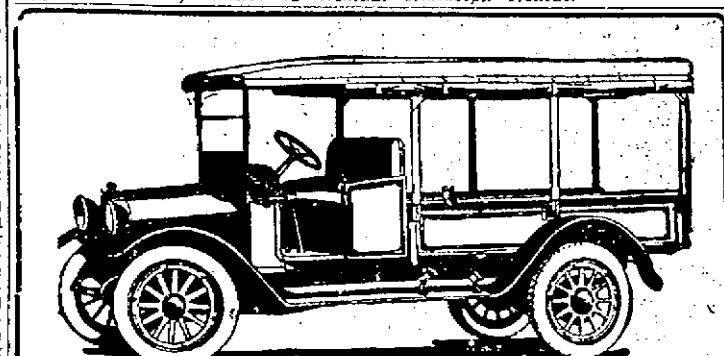

BOGUS "FEDERAL OFFICERS" TO RESCUE

MEREDITH, N. H., June 21.—A new sidelight of the rum running trade developed here. The police of this city stopped a car bound from the north, because the tail lights were not burning. The car carried a load of contraband. Before the Meredith officers could consummate the arrest, another car drove up behind the first machine. The occupants got out showed a badge, and held up the riders in the first automobile, saying they were under arrest and would take charge. Incidentally the bogus federal officers complimented the local police on the catch. To no cars then drove off south. Not hearing anything from the "officers," an inquiry was made which developed that no inspectors were working at that time in the Meredith territory.

According to statistics of suicides in the United States, the day on which most acts of self-destruction are committed is Monday.

$100,000 Fire Loss at U. of California

BERKELEY, Cal., June 21.—Hearst Hall and Hearst Hall Annex, have been destroyed and the Pathology building of the University of California damaged in a campus fire, with estimated loss of $100,000. The University infirmary, was threatened by the flames and its patients were removed, but the building was untouched. Hearst Hall, a large frame structure, was the gift to the university women of Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, mother of William Randolph Hearst.

Oakland Wins!

OAKLAND wins the Sweepstakes Cup—grand prize for cars of all classes regardless of cost, size or weight—in the Sixth Annual Los Angeles-Camp Curry, Yosemite Valley Economy and Endurance Run. Oakland also wins the first prize for cars of its own class.

Fifteen other makes of cars yielded to Oakland's phenomenal record of 49.2 Ton Miles per gallon, according to official A. A. A. records! The actual mileage per gallon for the Oakland car was 29.37. No oil was used and only two pints of water—and the length of the run was 360 miles!

Think of it! Nearly thirty miles to the gallon—through city traffic and over rain-soaked country roads; up steep mountain trails and through sand, hub-deep!

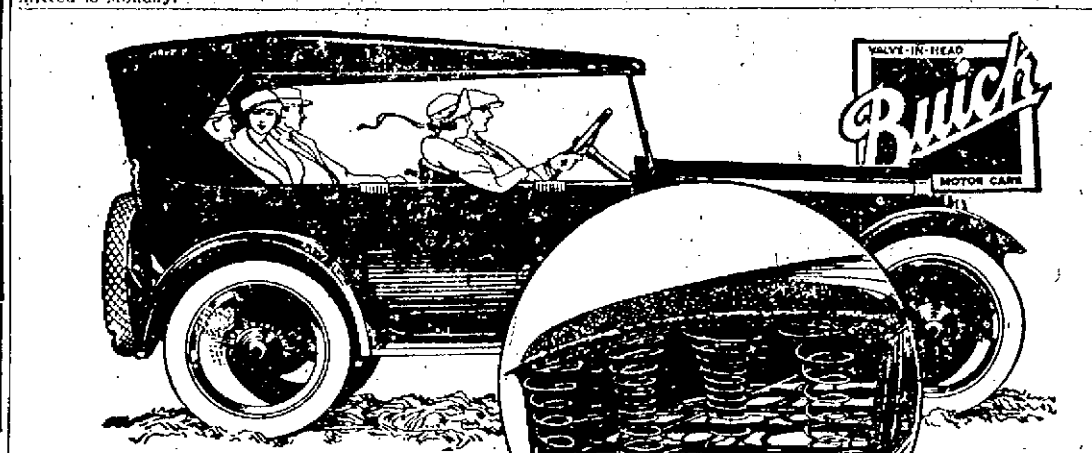

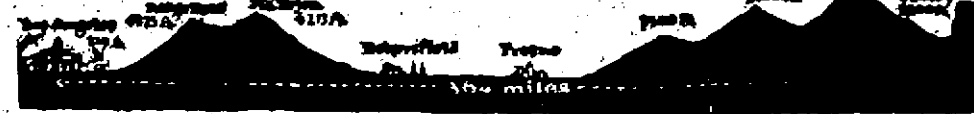

And remember—the New Oakland Car that accomplished this remarkable feat was a stock, five-passenger touring car. You can buy an exact duplicate—you can buy this same economy and dependability in any New Oakland model!

Truly, Oakland is the economy car. It is the only car, backed by 15,000 mile performance guarantee. It is the light-six sponsored by the resources and the prestige of the General Motors Corporation. Can you afford to overlook The New Oakland Six once you decide to spend around a thousand dollars for a motor car?

The Standard of Comparison

Why Buick Cushions "Ride Easy"

Buick cushions are comfortable on all roads because of their "double-deck" springs and resilient hair pads. The upper springs, which are light and easy-acting, yield to the slightest road irregularity. The lower springs are larger and stiffer. They come into play on rough country roads, carrying the passenger in comfort over bumps which cause the ordinary seat to "strike bottom."

Between the springs and the French-plaited leather upholstery are two thick, yielding pads of interlaced hair which positively prevent "lumping."

In Buick seat cushions, as in every other part of the car, is built the quality which has made Buick cars the standard of comparison.

Use This Re-Discovered Secret of Ancient Egypt to Keep Your Hair Young!

THE scientists who produced LURA Liquid Shampoo, the wonderful new tonic for the hair, have re-discovered an old Egyptian secret of the toilet.

It comes from an age when physical beauty was an object of religious worship. And so these people of Egyptian times left many hieroglyphic records of their practices, particularly that of the care of the hair.

The Care of the Hair

Egyptians, who worshipped beauty and to whom its enchantment and preservation was a religious duty, used henna to brighten and give life to the hair without changing its color.

Founded on their ancient formulas, we have blended the tonic henna with Lura Liquid Shampoo, and call it Lura Henna Shampoo. Without the henna, the shampoo is known as Lura Ideal Shampoo. This latter preparation will speak of later.

A Wealth of Beauty in Lura Henna Shampoo

The charm of a woman is found in her glorious hair, the well-groomed man is the man whose hair indicates a careful toilet.

Lura Henna Shampoo makes possible the most careful and healthful attention to the hair because of the tonic and medicinal qualities of henna.

Lura Henna Shampoo eradicates the cause of hair and scalp troubles and gives new life to the hair. It may be used freely by persons of any age. It gives a glossiness, a silky-sheen, a golden tint that is not possible by the use of any other shampoo or tonic. It brings back that wonderful natural beauty that youthful lustre. Not a coloring or dye—Lura Henna Shampoo will not tint the hair one particle more than desired for beauty. Follow the directions. A bottle of Lura Henna Shampoo lasts many weeks, as it requires less quantity than any other shampoo and therefore is the most economical on the market.

Another Form of Lura—Lura Ideal Shampoo

This is a rich, cleaning liquid without henna, for those who do not need a tonic shampoo. It is far superior to other shampoos, its strength lying in the solution, which being made entirely from pure coconut oil and other salutary ingredients, insures a greater solvent of greasy and oily matters that accumulate on the scalp and in the hair. On account of the strength of the solution, you will get a much quicker, heavier and more cleansing lather than is possible with other shampoos, which at once makes your shampooing expense very moderate. For men, women and children.

Lura Henna Shampoo, oversize 8-oz. bottle; Lura Ideal Shampoo (without Henna), generous 6-oz. bottle. At all druggists.

NOTE: To prove what Lura will do for your hair, Ideal Laboratories Co., Chicago, will send sample test bottle upon receipt of 10¢ in coin or stamps to cover packing and postage. Be sure and state which product is desired, Lura with Henna or without.

NOMINATION COST HER $500

Mrs. Olesen, Nominated by Minnesota Democrats for U. S. Senate

To "Pioneer a Trail of Women in Politics" as She Herself Terms It

Is Eager to Get Into Campaign for the November Election

CLOQUET, Minn., June 21.—(By the Associated Press)—To the country at large she may be Anna Dickie Olesen, but to this city of 8000 people, she will always be Mrs. Peter Olesen though even her husband, who is superintendent of Cloquet's schools, insists that "Anna Dickie" be substituted for the "Mrs. Peter" when she is referred to in newspapers.

And today the little family of three—especially the husband and 14-year-old daughter Mary—were thrilled with the knowledge that the wife and mother had been chosen to "pioneer a trail for women in politics" as Mrs. Olesen herself has termed it.

"It is no personal tribute," she insisted to the Associated Press. "It is only the endorsement of the democratic state platform as formulated by the state convention that endorsed me for the senate. I sought to bring that platform to the members of our party; my nomination is simply an evidence of its acceptance."

But there was no denying she was happy, happy and enthusiastic almost eager to get into the campaign for the November election, which she will press as energetically as she did her primary campaign, she said.

"I am deeply grateful to the people that have stood by me in the primary campaign," she said. "I did not seek the nomination in the Minnesota convention, but having accepted it, I did the best I could—with the limited funds at my command—to make an effective campaign for the furtherance of the party's interests."

It was as Citizen Olesen she gained the nomination she insists and not through any advantage gained by her sex. "I made no plea for recognition of women in politics," she said, "and I was ready to accept on equality with men whatever the fortunes of politics may offer."

"During my primary campaign I set up as my motto—and I shall continue to keep it before me in the fall campaign—the words of George Washington: 'Let us raise the standard to which the wise and honest can rally—the event is in the hands of God.'"

Spent $500 in Campaign Not more than $500 was spent by Mrs. Olesen in her primary campaign, she said. She visited nearly 40 towns and cities in every section of the state, traveling in a small sedan automobile given her by friends. Most of the time she did her own driving.

It was only after she received the endorsement of the democratic state convention that Mrs. Olesen became known as Mrs. Anna Dickie Olesen. A ruling of the state attorney general's office that she could not legally file as Mrs. Peter Olesen, necessitated the change to the name that appeared on the ballot.

Interest in the welfare of young girls four years ago brought Mrs. Olesen to the attention of her community, then the state, as she took up the cause of girls through the agency of women's clubs.

In 1915 she became president of the Women's Clubs of the Eighth Minnesota district and later was named as vice-president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs.

During the war Mrs. Olesen delivered many patriotic talks and these brought her to state-wide attention. Subsequently, with hostilities at an end, she engaged in Chautauque work.

Born in Le Sueur county, 26 years ago, Mrs. Olesen came from a family which had pioneered to Minnesota.

Raised On a Farm

Raised on a farm where she lived until she was married, she traveled three miles each day to reach the high school at Waterville, Minn., for her early education.

Housework, Mrs. Olesen declared, does not have to be neglected by the woman in politics, any more than a woman in club work need have her kitchen sink constantly piled high with dishes, she explained.

"A man takes part in civic affairs without neglecting his vocation, and a woman can as readily adjust herself to the new order that is sure to accompany the advent of women in politics."

Packing boxes made of properly seasoned wood are found to resist rough handling six to ten times as well as those made of green wood.

Boilermakers Oppose Strike

Burkhardt shops of the Illinois Central were that the boilermakers there had voted overwhelmingly against a strike. Only five days remain before the general committee of 90, representing the rail workers meet in Chicago to discuss the matter. The general chairman is expected to arrive Friday and Saturday, intending to begin the ballot count on Sunday. D. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, who urged the union voters to return their ballots early, so the result could be announced at the same time the $136,000,000 wage cuts become effective July 1, is expected back from the Cincinnati convention tomorrow.

Rail workers and their leaders today were digesting the reply of Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Railroad Labor board of the nine union clubs who informed the board that a strike would be authorized if the referendum favors a suspension of work on the roads.

What effect Mr. Hooper's statement that the proposed strike would be disastrous to the railway unions, unfortunate for their members and unfavorable to the public, would have on the balloting the remainder of the week, was a matter of conjecture.

Mr. Hooper's letter, which was addressed to Mr. Jewell, said the strike vote should not be taken on any misunderstanding of the action or attitude of the board of union clubs. He manifested "a strikingly distorted conception of what the board has done and why it did it."

Mr. Hooper said although he felt no reply was required, he also felt it his duty to answer the union leaders in the interest of railway peace and because the threatened strike "contains such possibilities of loss and detriment" to the strikers.

that she feared for her children's safety and attempted to get them into the house where they would be safe from flying shells, if any were to fly. Seeing that she would not be able to halt the fast coming enemy, Mrs. Stavropoulos admitted that she threw a small cupful, which she later changed on cross-examination to a handful of ashes down upon Mrs. Bazikas.

Falls to Halt Enemy

The ash barrage failed to slow up the defendant who gained her objective in a few short bounds. From here on the story differs in some respects. Mrs. Stavropoulos claimed that Mrs. Bazikas grabbed her by the hair, pushed her down into a bathtub, tried to submerge her head in the water, beat her and finished up by hitting her several times.

One of the plaintiff's children rushed

for reserves and two men and a woman arrived on the scene and separated the combatants. The defendant told a different story of what started the trouble. She said she was putting some garbage into a can when Mrs. Stavropoulos threw a handful of ashes down upon her. She then admitted that she made her attempt to storm the fortress.

A Mrs. Sullivan, who lives across the way, testified that she saw part of the fracas and said that the two women rolled about the piazza in a good old-fashioned hair pulling match. She also claimed that when two men came to separate the batters, one of them struck the defendant over the head with a stick and that her cry of "stop" prevented the other from bringing down his raised club. She added that when Mrs. Bazikas was leaving the piazza she was showered with cans full of ashes.

In passing sentence the court said that while the assault seemed provoked, it was not sufficient reason for the defendant to attack the plaintiff. The probation sentence was given at the suggestion of the prosecuting attorney.

Defendant Discharged

Elmira Dagonals was discharged on a charge of assault and battery following the telling of her story and the element of doubt surrounding the case. She was accused by Mrs. Adele M. Mottard of 77 Lilley avenue of pushing her and striking her over the head with an umbrella. The complainant testified that she had been called abusive names and that her character had been defamed by the defendant. The husband of the defendant said that there were no blows struck and the husband of the plaintiff claims there were. In making his finding the court said that there was an element of uncertainty about the case and that, as the stories were directly opposite, and the husband had not been satisfied an assault had been committed, he ordered the defendant discharged.

Masjed Afarak, who pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of a pair of baby shoes, a pillow case, came clothes from a local department store, had his case filed upon the agreement that he would make restitution. The head of the store was satisfied not to push the case, as the defendant had six small children.

Joseph E. Roy pleaded guilty to operating an unregistered auto and to operating a "hot" auto without a license. He was fined $10 on each complaint.

Sarah A. Arthur, found guilty of being a stubborn child, had a former sentence revoked and was sent to the state institution at Sherburne.

Johnnie Goodwin pleaded guilty to drunkenness and had her case continued to tomorrow. She was recently been paroled from the house of correction. The case was continued for investigation.

York game, will keep him out of the game two days, in addition to the three days' suspension imposed yesterday, President Ban Johnson of the American league announced today. Ruth consequently will not be able to play until Sunday.

President Johnson increased the home run king's suspension, originally three days, for disputing a decision made by Dineen in Monday's game at Cleveland, to five days when he received a long report from the umpire today, detailing remarks made by the outfielder yesterday, when ordered off the field in compliance with Mr. Johnson's first ruling.

Mr. Johnson announced that Ruth is suspended without pay and that this feature of the decision will cost Babe $1500 or $300 a day which was said by the American league president to be the player's salary.

"Babe Ruth is going to behave himself or I'll keep him out of the game all summer," Mr. Johnson said.

PRO-TREATY MEN ARE VICTORIOUS

Of 42 Republican Candidates in Contested Constituencies 15 Already Beaten

Returns Already in Indicate
Further Defeats of Treaty
Opponents

DUBLIN, June 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Of the 42 republican candidates in the constituencies where there were contests in Friday's parliamentary elections, 15 have already been declared beaten. Final returns from the places where the count is still unfinished will, judging by the figures now available, show further defeats of treaty opponents.

One noted survivor probably will be Cathal Brugha (Charles Burgess), chief of Eamon de Valera's lieutenants, who, although he is not yet elected in Waterford, can only be defeated by some unprecedented overturn in the count.

Results show the removal of many of the best known names in the Dail. Eireann. Of the six women members, all anti-treaty, only Mary MacSwiney survived and Mrs. Kate O'Callaghan was re-elected.

Mrs. Pearse, whose two sons were executed for their part in the Easter week rebellion, was defeated in County Dublin. The figures show that she received comparatively few transfers of votes.

Sean Etchingham, a frequent speaker in the Dail, was defeated in the Dail. Eireann. One of the leaders of the army dissidents, lost in Waterford. Among the defeats was that of Eirvine Childers in Kildare. He received only 572 votes, fewer than any other candidate in the whole election.

It is announced that in Galway the pro-treaty candidates on the Sinn Fein panel, P. J. Hogan, C. O'Malley, and P. J. Whelan, were elected. Mr. Hogan is minister of agriculture in the Dail cabinet.

Commandant Dan Breen, a joint panel candidate, previously announced as elected for Waterford-Thipparry East, was defeated, final counts of returns awaited.

FIND MAN EATING GRASS

Half Starved Man Aboard
Battered Schooner Hulk
Off New Bedford

NEW BEDFORD, June 21.—This old whaling city, accustomed for generations to hearing strange tales of the sea and the men who follow it, added another story to its annals today. It centered about the mysterious appearance of a battered schooner hulk and a tattered, half-starved man aboard her, close to the shore of West Island yesterday.

The man, emaciated and with a heavy growth of beard when found eating grass on the beach by a summer visitor, could only tell the police today that he had drifted to the island, and that he had recently been in Boston and New York. His name he said, was Edmund Erickson, and his address "the water."

His unseaworthy craft, measuring 30 feet, was lying close in to the shore. It carried a tiny, rusty, jury rig made of two pieces of board. Its sails were a few shreds of old clothing. A dozen patches on the hull had not kept out the water and the man's bunk was half afloat. There was no food aboard.

by the state last year, notwithstanding the drop in the state total.

In 1921, the city was obliged to contribute to the commonwealth $285,430 as its share of the state tax, which for last year was $1,000,000. On the basis of a reduction of one-seventh in the total, the city's share this year would have been $255,840. Instead, the tax assessed upon the city this year is actually $290,160. The reason for the change is thus explained by Commissioner Long in a statement to the Sun's state house representative:

Basic of Apportionment

"The basis of apportionment of the state tax," Commissioner Long said, "rests with absolute accuracy on the ability to pay which is possessed by every city and town in the commonwealth. It reflects without any possibility of error the financial prosperity of the separate municipalities, and the fact that a city's share of the state tax, as announced for the current year, has not been reduced one-seventh below that of last year, proves conclusively that in the past three years the city has been industrially prosperous, in comparison with its neighbors.

"The situation is exactly analogous to that of the individual who finds that he is obliged to pay in his income tax twice as much as he paid in the preceding year. He complains at the increase, but forgets that it is his own prosperity, and his own increased revenue, which causes the increase.

"So it is with the value and towns in this state which are obliged this year to pay a larger share of the state tax. In each and every instance the increased apportionment is in exact relation to the increased revenue the city has received, during the past year, from the various forms of taxes.

"In making up the apportionment, this department uses only the figures of tax receipts, except that occasionally it becomes necessary to increase the valuations placed by local assessors upon real estate, and personal property under their jurisdiction.

"We accepted without the addition of a single dollar the valuation they have placed upon real estate, but we had to add a small amount to their figures on personal property which increases the apportionment 75 cents on $1000. This was done as a result of information obtained by agents of this department with reference to the valuation of property owned by certain taxpayers, information which probably was not available to the local assessors. We made use of it for the purpose of equalizing local assessments, but it added less than one per cent to the city's apportionment.

"As a matter of fact, six distinct factors enter into our apportionment of the state tax. These are the assessed polls, receipts from corporation taxes, receipts from excise taxes on public service corporations, receipts from the national bank tax, and valuations of real and personal property.

"Under the statute, the department may use such figures as it sees fit for the last two items, but as indicated above, we used the local assessors' figures for the real estate, and added only slightly to their total valuation of personal property. To these we added the valuation of national bank stock owned in the city.

Figuring Complicated

A somewhat complicated method of figuring is used to determine the amount to be added on account of corporation and public service taxes, but

In each case we determine the amount of the taxes paid to the city from these sources, and then figure the valuation which would have been necessary to yield that amount if taxed at the state rate of 123.34, and accept the amount as the valuation. Since this same rule is applied to every city and town, it works with absolute justice to all.

"We obtain the aggregate of all these figures, and for each city and town in the state. Then we add the aggregate together, and get the total valuation of the commonwealth. When all these figures have been obtained, we determine the proportion of each municipality to the total for the state. Then we deduct from the $1,000 required by law to be used as a basis, the total of polls assessed in the state, figured at one-tenth of a mill each. To the proportion figure we add each city's polls, figured at one-tenth of a mill each, and the result is the apportionment each city must pay of each $1,000 assessed in the state tax.

"It was, of course, natural that persons unfamiliar should expect, upon being informed that the state tax had been reduced from $14,000,000 to $12,000,000, to find that the tax upon their own municipality had been reduced in like proportion, or one-seventh. In cities and towns where this has not proven true, it should not be a matter of regret, for it indicates merely that the particular city or town has been relatively more prosperous than the commonwealth.

The City of Lynn

"In such cities, I venture to suggest that the people will prefer their present situation to that of the city of Lynn, where a reduction in apportionment has been brought about, but only by the sacrifice of the great shoe industry which has made the city prosperous.

"Certainly they are far better off than those living in a certain other city where the assessors have purposely kept their local valuations low."

In the hope that they might thereby reduce their share of the state tax. In that city we have added $11,000,000 to the personal property valuation as fixed by the assessors, so that the city is now obliged not only to pay its full share of the state tax, but it has been struggling along on a tax rate much higher than would have been necessary had local valuations been fixed at a proper figure.

It may be of interest to The Sun readers to note the actual figures upon which the city's apportionment is made. The total is $14,033,376, including valuations of $4,813,000 upon real estate; $33,190,414 on personal property; $729,033 on national bank stock; $1,621,452 on the value of public service corporation franchises and $13,241,715 on business corporation franchises. There are 27,774 assessed polls which, at one-tenth of a mill each, add $27.78 to the city's proportion of each $1000, which for this and the next two years will be $24.18, instead of the $21.32 figure which has prevailed for the past three years.

Are You Feeling Fine and Dandy?

IF NOT—WHY NOT? When you get up in the morning with a dark brown taste in your mouth, your tongue furred, and you feel headache, or nauseated, there must be a Reason.

Have you been overeating of rich and indigestible foods, too much pastry or sweets? Eating too fast without chewing your food properly, or eating when overfilled and unable to digest!

If so, reform your habits, but don't try to drag through the day feeling blue and grouchy—get a bottle of "L.P." Atwood's Medicine and take a dose at each mealtime to get your digestive apparatus functioning properly. It acts promptly as a laxative and will help to free you of biliousness. 50 cents at your dealer's. "L.P." MEDICINE CO., Portland

About 200 Members Guests
of the City of Lawrence
Today

LAWRENCE, June 21.—About 200 members of the fire chiefs' club of Massachusetts and others prominently connected with fire departments in various parts of New England, were guests of the city of Lawrence today. Chief Francis J. Morris of the local department was in charge of the entertainment program.

Following a parade of Lawrence's recently motorized department and a demonstration by the motor pumps, the visitors were shown about the city and taken through one of the American Woolen Co.'s mills. Dinner was served at the Merrimack Valley Country club.

Douglas Shoe Co. today that beginning June 27 its men's factories will run on a full time schedule of 48 hours weekly, and increase the daily volume of men's shoes 1200 pairs. Full time is assured for some time ahead, Vice President J. L. Tinkham says.

BOARD GRANTS

MINOR LICENSES

The license commission met last night and granted a number of new licenses and issued several renewals. Here were no hearings on last night's schedule.

The following were granted licenses to sell ice cream, confectionery, soda and fruit on the Lord's day: Dan Lalor, 115 Howard street; Thomas Orsley, corner of Butterfield and Leitch streets; Andrew Magiera, 51 Beacon street; J. A. Steinburg, 569 Bridge street; Charles Lefebvre, 150 Myrtle street; John Hawley, 142 Myrtle street; F. W. Barrows, 400, 842-846 Gorham street; Catherine Kane, 267 Lawrence street.

Lodging house permits were granted to Mrs. Annie Orcutt, 3 Webster street; Mary McNulty, 231 Appleton street; Selena Monnelly, 15 Pearl street; and Winters, 95-97 John street and Mrs. Jane Thibodeau, 4 Dutton street.

John J. McCleugh, 260 Gorham street; Benjamin Seidman, 698 School st. and Arthur Neras 77 Parker avenue were granted hawkers and peddlers' licenses.

Other licenses to be granted include Caron & Company, common victualer, 59 Cabot street; Michael Grosse, billiards and pool, 193 Gorham street; Joseph Lamontagne, junk collector, 77 Caroline street; Mary Marmar, junk collector, 59 Washington street; I. Burke & Son, job wagon, 94 Alley avenue.

Lowell Priest to Be Transferred for Duty at Brighton Seminary

It was reported from St. Patrick's rectory today that Rev. Francis L. Keenan, who has been a curate in that parish for the last three years, has been transferred by His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell for duty at Brighton seminary. The transfer will take effect this week. This news will cause great regret in St. Patrick's parish where Fr. Keenan has endeared himself to the entire congregation by his zeal and untiring efforts for the spiritual welfare of the people. He had charge of the C.Y.M.L. and was spiritual director of the Holy Name society and of the A.O.H. He was also director of the Sunday school of St. Patrick's parish. He has delivered several public addresses on the Irish question which marked him as an orator of ability. His sermons in the pulpit were always scholarly and uplifting.

TO OPPOSE SEN. LODGE

Joseph Walker Takes Out
Papers for Republican
Nomination

BOSTON, June 21.—Joseph Walker, former speaker of the Massachusetts house took out registration blanks at the State House today in pursuance of his intention to seek the republican nomination for the United States senate in opposition to Senator Lodge. He was republican candidate for governor in 1912, and progressive candidate for the same office in 1914. Russell A. Wood of Cambridge and Washington Cook of Sharon are others who are expected to contest for the republican senatorial nomination in the primary on Sept. 12.

Col. William A. Gaston, chairman of the board of the National Shawmut bank, who arrived home from Europe yesterday, said today that he was about ready to start his campaign for the democratic nomination for the senate and that he would issue a public statement within a few days. His opponents in the primary will be John Jackson Walsh and Dallas Lore Sharp.

Father of Radio Comes to United States To Solve Wireless Problems

MARCONI, HIS FLOATING LABORATORY AND THE RADIO RECORDING MACHINE WHICH REGISTERS RADIOGRAMS ON A TAPE, SIMILAR TO A STOCK TICKET

TO THE RADIO AMATEUR
By SEN. GUGLIELMO MARCONI
Father of Wireless
NEW YORK, June 21.—Greetings from one amateur to another. I started as one. And that's what I have always considered myself since. I never want to be called a university professor, or a doctor. I simply want to be an amateur. At all times, the amateurs can count on my support and the benefit of my experimenting.
(Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun)

He will get it from personal observation of the accomplishments and problems of the thousands of amateurs whose little antennae dot the landscape of the country and the powerful stations which broadcast programs night and day. Their problems he is endeavoring to solve.

"America," says Marconi, "leads the world in the development of the radio, telephone and the methods of broadcasting."

"Europe is far behind. But it is beginning to pick up."

"One London daily has begun publishing leading articles on radio two or three times a week. In the house of commons there is a movement under way to license certain stations for broadcasting."

"At our Chelmsford works we are building 60,000 receiving sets. The interest is growing throughout all Europe."

"But nowhere is it so keen as here."

Marconi received me in his study aboard his yacht Elettra, a floating radio laboratory. He was most cordial. I had last seen him in London. "I'm taking this merely as a pleasure trip—with a little experimenting on the side," he explained.

Combating Static
Among these experiments have been some of the most important ever undertaken to eliminate the great bugaboo of radio—static, which interferes with reception of wireless.

"Some reports have said that we have succeeded in eliminating that what is known as static," the senator went on. "But that has not yet been done."

"Certainly great advances have been made in the reduction of this form of disturbance, but it has not yet been eliminated—at present."

"I can only hope that it will be eventually. I do not know."

"But we have been doing work on wave lengths of one or two meters. There is no static on these lengths and the waves may be reflected and directed by mirrors in the same way as light is reflected and directed."

Waves as short as these have never been used commercially. A little while ago they were totally unexplored. And now Marconi is able to use them for radio transmission over distances as great as 100 miles!

Privacy For Messages
Utilization of his method of reflecting waves toward one point will come closer to bringing about secrecy in the transmission of radio messages than any present means.

Attempts have been made many times toward the focusing of electric waves. They never succeeded because the waves were too long. But Marconi with his short wave of one or two meters may accomplish the miracle.

Marconi's laboratory aboard the Elettra is a veritable wonderland. Radio messages are received automatically. No operator need listen in. The signals are registered on a strip of tape by a high speed recorder attached to the receiving set.

The senator picked up a bit of the tape. It was a perfect record of a message from the high power station at Carnarvon, Wales, recorded while the yacht lay at anchor in the North river, New York.

It was just one of many machines on which Marconi is experimenting with the hope of eventually:

Reducing static interference.
Developing directional transmission which would insure secrecy.
And making the range and speed of radio transmission greater.

Rival Forces Makes Ether A Hindrance to Radio

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
NEW YORK, June 21.—Ether is a hindrance to radio!

That, coming from no less eminent an electrical engineer than Dr. H. W. Nichols of New York, furnishes another bolt against the common belief that the ether furnishes the medium of radio transmission.

The first bolt against this notion—which heretofore had been accepted by scientists—came only recently from Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, famous electrical wizard. Dr. Steinmetz declared it was not the ether, but extremely fast light waves that made radio telephony possible.

To this statement that the ether has nothing to do with radio, Dr. Nichols adds the shot that it actually is a hindrance to the development of the new science.

Must be Subdued
In fact, says Dr. Nichols, counter activities in the ether must be overcome before wireless communication can be improved.

Some idea of these rival forces of the ether may be gained from the fact that every moving electron in the universe is a source of electrical interference. There are the electrons which fill the atmosphere to a height of 10 or 20 miles with charged particles in water vapor or in clouds. The discharge of these particles—lightning—causes a considerable electro-magnetic effect on receiving antennae.

Besides this interference, explains Dr. Nichols, there are the high speed electrons of the ether projecting from the sun, which cause static disturbance. This explains to some extent the difference between ranges of radio communication by day and at night.

Methods Tried
Since the early days of radio, engineers have tried to reduce these etheral disturbances, or "static." Still, static remains.

However, Dr. Nichols, says, by sharper tuning, that part of a static disturbance may be excluded which is resolvable into frequencies differing from the frequency of the signals.

Also the power radiated from the sending station may be increased. This may be done slightly by using antennae which are directive in their action.

But since it is necessary to use large antennae as compared with the wave length, to attain directivity, this would mean aerials many miles in length for long distance communication.

A. F. OF L. FOR INQUIRY TO QUESTION LAWHORN

Would Investigate "Alleged Discriminating Action Contemplated by Harvard"

CINCINNATI, June 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Without discussion of opposition, the American Federation of Labor convention today adopted a resolution favoring an investigation of the "alleged discriminating action by Harvard university to bar admission of Jews as students."

The resolution declared the federation's disapproval of "any departure from true liberal tradition, and any policy which may deny to any racial or religious groups equal opportunity for education."

The resolution specified the federation should cause the investigation to be made and that the officers if they found that a ban was to be placed on Jews, should take "such action as they deem feasible to remove the discrimination contemplated and to assure equal opportunities to all, regardless of race and religious affiliation."

SEC. ROOSEVELT AUTHORIZES EXAMINATION BY DIST. ATTY. SALTONSTALL

BOSTON, June 21.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt today authorized the commandant at the Charlestown navy yard to allow District Attorney Saltonstall of Middlesex county to question Private John D. Lawhorn of the Marine Corps as to his possible knowledge of the murder of Ralph W. Brewster, Winchester station agent, several weeks ago.

Naval authorities have so far refused to give up Lawhorn to the civil authorities, contending that there was not enough evidence to connect him with the crime.

Lawhorn was brought into the case through the alleged confession of a former comrade who said Lawhorn had confessed to him that he committed the murder.

Official records at the navy yard show that Lawhorn was on guard duty at the time the murder is known to have occurred.

Lawhorn, it was said, will be questioned by the county officials in the office of the Marine Corps at the yard, so marine officers will be present.

SEN. CAPPER ATTACKS WEEKS

Says His Resignation Might Be Very Properly Requested By President

Has Long Been Apparent That Weeks Is Out of Tune With Administration

TOPEKA, Kan., June 21.—Senator Arthur Capner of Kansas in a special despatch to the Topeka Daily Capital, declared that "Secretary Weeks' resignation might be very properly requested by the president" and "it has long been quite apparent that he is out of tune with the administration."

The despatch deals particularly with Secretary Weeks' address made in Ohio last week to a graduating class and in which he said that the secretary had been made by the secretary there regarding prohibition and the primary laws.

"It was a singular time and place and occasion for a high official of the government to attack popular government generally and the direct primary and the prohibition law in particular," said Senator Capner.

DUTY OF CHURCH IN LABOR CONTROVERSIES

WICKFORD, R. I., June 21.—The duty of the church in labor controversies is to hear both sides, "learn what the truth of the situation is, and then face it bravely," said Bishop James DeWolf Perry of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island in addressing the National Conference of Episcopal Social Service Workers here today.

The conference is considering industrial problems and the strike situation in Rhode Island.

Referring to the strike situation in Rhode Island, Bishop Perry said: "The chief opportunity and responsibility of the church in the situation here is a careful and sympathetic study of the entire problem. The right is not on either side. For the church the duty is to sit down with the representatives of both sides and get the facts; to learn from the manufacturers why they take the stand they have taken and then to sit down with the intelligent leaders of the unions and learn from them the living conditions they face."

Then it will be possible to try intelligently to interpret one to the other with truth and sincerity. Then may we hope to bring about a restoration of peace upon the principles for which the church stands."

Bishop Perry urged rectors not to go before their congregations of workers in the rural districts "and condemn the employers' nor before congregations of employers in the cities and denounce the unions."

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 21.—The short interest in the stock market hurried to cover again at the active opening of today's session. Mexican Petroleum dominated the movement, soon advancing 3 1/2 points to 17 1/2, and as suddenly declining four points. Pan-American issues rose two points each and gains of 1 to 2 1/2 points marked the day's movement. Standard Oil of California and Petroleum of California, Gulf States Steel added three points to yesterday's gains and American Locomotive, Mercantile Marine preferred, Studebaker, Gt. Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Corn Products and American Ice were substantially higher. Nominal losses were made by Crucible and United States Steel. Westinghouse and several of the secondary rails.

Mexican Petroleum rose to 17 1/2 after heavy selling occurred in the final dealings. Leaders fell back 2 to 6 points with unsettledness in the general list. The close was irregular.
